LOLOS CALLED CURIOUS ABOUT AMERICANS TOO

Searcher for Missing Fliers Describes Night in Native Village.

Julian Wilson, Associated Press photographer from Louisville, was one of only six Americans who managed to scale 14,- foot Liangpoashan in the [illegible] mountains of wild, western China in the search for survivors of a B-29 that crashed there in March, 1945. He found the skeleton bones of one crew member which weer taken to Sichang. Wilson volunteered for the hazardous trip although a physician had cautioned him he might require surgery at any time for a troublesome hernia. Of the ascent he said, "The higher you go, the less you can walk. The next rock a few yards ahead looks like a day's journey away. My eyes felt as though they were going to jump out, my heart pounded, my ears burned and I felt as if I couldn't get my next breath." His story of a night in a Lolo village, where the party rested, follows.)

By JULIAN WILSON
By The Associated Press

SICHANG, Oct. 15—(Delayed)—The Lolos are just as curious about Americans as we are about them.

Lt. Col. Herbert Wurtzler, other members of his American Graves Registration search team and I learned that as a Lolo chieftain and his villagers carefully examined us, our clothes, our equipment and my cameras. They even pinched our skin.

Satisfied, they admired us and toasted us.

Had Never Seen Whites

Some of the Lolos never before had seen white men. They didn't know until we told them that the war with Japan was over.

Our party of 50 spent one night at Lanchang, a Lolo village. The chief, Meh Lo-yu, received us cordially. Considered wealthy by tribal standards, he controls 500 families and 1,000 rifles. He owns 40 rifles himself.

Twenty years ago, the Lolos had no weapons. Encouraged by the Chinese to grow opium, they since have acquired thousands in trade.

All members of the ruling blackbone class are distinguished by black turbans, an ornament they wear in one ear, and an ever present rifle slung over a shoulder.

Few Women About

There were few women about, those we saw wore silver necklaces and colored cloths around their necks which like the men's, appeared never to have been washed. It is reported that the Lolos never bathe.

The chief's house is 40 feet long and 20 wide, made of stamped mud. Windowless, it is pitch dark inside. There are no air holus except two vents near the chimney to let out smoke from the the cooking fire.

The door is only three and a half feet hign and we had to crawl in.

At each end of the building was a loft. The chief and his entire family, fully clothed, lay down under one for the night.

Livestock Take Other Loft

The other loft was a sort of indoor barnyard for horses, cows, pigs and chickens.

The chief asked us what we wished to eat. Asked for chicken, he brought out a rooster and slaughtered it before us. Then he led in a goat, slit its throat, skinned it, cut it up, roasted it and served it as we sat around the fire.

The Lolos consider the fire sacred and never throw anything into it. I learned that when I tossed in a match. I quickly fished it out when the chief protested angrily.

Cooked After Dark

The main dish of the meal never is cooked until after dark, and never is prepared until the guests are present.

We spent the night at the chief's house, sleeping, or trying to, on straw mats placed on the hard ground.

Various smells in the house were distracting. So was a rooster that tried to roost on my head.

All of us acquired a colony of fleas.

The Lolos smoke almost continuously from long stemmed pipes.

They grow potatoes, rice and a native corn.

Only Priests Writes

Only the priests write. Writing is considered beneath the dignity of the upper class blackbones.

The women definitely are at the beck and call of the men.

"WALLY'S" JEWELS STOLEN. This jewel case of the Duchess of Windsor has Britain's Scotland Yard in a dither, because it has been emptied of the duchess' magnificent jewels, valued at "some thousands of pounds" by thieves who broke into the secluded Ednam lodge at Sunningdale, England, where the Windsors are staying. The duchess is shown receiving the jewel case at a ceremony in Nassau when she was the governor's first lady in the British West Indies. (International Soundphoto)

INTERNATIONAL RING SEEN IN GEM THEFT

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 18—An intensive hunt for the thieves who stole part of the Duchess of Windsor's jewelry extended today into Europe and reached across the Atlantic as authorities proceeded on a theory the daring crime was the work of international gem thieves.

The tweed-clad duke, who had come to England for a private, quiet visit, himself valued the loot at not more than $80,000. Speaking from his temporary home at Sunningdale, where the robbery was committed Wednesday night, he told British newsmen he was deeply concerned and annoyed at "the exaggerated reports of the value of the stolen jewelry," which one British newspaper placed as high as $2,000,000.

"There is absolutely no truth in the published statement that the jewelry was worth £250,000 ($1,000,000,)" the duke said. "I can understand that a quarter of a million pounds makes better reading than £20,000, but £20,000 is the value."

$35,000 Judgment Awarded Marionite

A federal jury in Cleveland yesterday awarded Leo V. Ruff, 42, of 788 Woodrow avenue, a former Erie Railroad Co. flagman, $35,000 damages for back injuries suffered in a railroad accident Feb. 3, 1945, at Ashland, an Associated Press dispatch from Cleveland reported today.

The accident occurred when an eastbound Erie freight train ran into a car on a derailed westbound freight. Injured at the same time were I. J. McAdoo, engineer, Raymond Hinklin, fireman and John Moloney, brakeman.

Carl J. Gugler, Galion attorney, represented Mr. Ruff.

250 on Strike at Plant Here

Union Members Walk Out at Marion Metal Products Company.

The Marion Metal Products Co. plant on Cheney avenue was idle today following yesterday's walkout of 250 members of the International Association of Machinists (AFL).

The men struck at noon yesterday over what company officials termed a delay in renewal of the union's contract with the company. G. E. Herr, manager of the company, said today that several meetings were held concerning renewal of the contract, which recently expired, but that no agreement had yet been reached. Another meeting between company and union officials was expected today. Mr. Herr was uncertain whether or not there would be an early settlement.

One automobile of union members sat outside the company's building today but there was no actual picket line and officials said union workers were making no attempt to enter the buildings. Office workers and nonunion employes were reported to be going in and out of the buildings unmolested.

Ray Beverly, business representative for district Lodge No. 59, International Association of Machinists, said he planned to meet with company officials sometime this afternoon and that he would know better after the meeting whether the matter would be settled promptly. Yesterday's walkout came "unexpectedly" he said, although the company and the Roosevelt lodge No. 1281, the local union, had been in disagreement since the union contract expired Sept. 1, over certain new provisions of the contract. Some of the new provisions are being sought by the company and some by the union, Mr. Beverly said.

Crawford County Hears GOP, Democratic Campaign Talks

Mrs. Robert A. Taft Speaks Before Republicans at Bucyrus.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 18—Emphasizing the need for wise leadership "while utter confusion, both in the domestic and foreign situation, exist" Mrs. Robert A. Taft urged the support of the Republican ticket at election day Nov. 5 when she appeared as the principal speaker Wednesday night at the Elks club at the countywide Republican rally.

Mrs. Taft scored the administration which she said "has not been able to keep his own cabinet in line." Current shortages she laid to "bungling bureaucrats in Washington have created."

Mrs. Taft also touched upon the budget, which she said was the "largest peacetime budget in history" and spoke of the tremendous taxation which will be required to balance it.

Mrs. Taft urged that good Democrats, who are as anxious as the Republicans to clear Washington of New Dealers and Com-

GALION, Oct. 18—Speaking before a full house at Senior High school auditorium, Thursday night, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, dealt with operation of the state departments of welfare, commerce and liquor in his talk as principal speaker of a Democratic rally for Crawford county.

"For twenty years, little had been done to expand the welfare institutions of the state," he said, "but in the last 21 months, the state has made more progress than was made in the preceding 21 years." He said that there are now 42,000 inmates in welfare institutions of the state, with 7,000 of these in penal institutions and 35,000 in mental institutions. He charged that when the state was making plans to get Fletcher hospital at Cambridge for a state institution, his opponent, Thomas J. BYRNES DRAFTS REPORT TO U. S.

Secretary Will Discuss Conference in Broadcast at 10 P. M.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—Secretary of State Byrnes drafted a report to the American people of the diplomatic conflict between the United States and Russia.

Top authorities suggested he would make use of the occasion to lash back at criticism of his foreign policies by former Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace.

Byrnes, who returned yesterday from the Paris peace conference and received President Truman's congratulations on a "most excellent job," was scheduled to broadcast for 30 minutes beginning at 10 p. m.

In writing his address Byrnes was reported to have two principal objectives in view:

1. To try to knock down Russian charges that the capitalist world is seeking to encircle the Soviet Union.

2. To smash the Wallace implications that his policy toward Russia is a policy of "toughness" and should be softened even at the risk of actions which, in Wallace's words, might be called appeasement.

Those in a position to know say Byrnes will reaffirm his basic idea of American-Russian relations with a declaration that the United States intends to stand absolutely firm on its principles where major interests are involved and yet to deal patiently with all difficult issues.

Tomorrow night Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) intends to broadcast from Washington his reasons for believing that on the whole the Paris meeting actually made some progress toward restoring peace to Europe. Vandenberg and Senator Connally (D-Tex) were advisers to Byrnes. Connally is returning by boat.

Some of those who were with Byrnes in Paris believe that Wallace's speech has been misunderstood abroad, particularly by the Russians. They express the view that perhaps the Kremlin has begun toughening its own policy toward the United States in the hope of possibly weakening the American position on such critical issues as the Dardanelles, Danube navigation and the future control of Trieste.

KALIS FACES MURDER CHARGE IF HE LIVES

Mansfield Man Critical After Shooting Wife, Son and Self.

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 18 — If Michael Kalis, 52, a steelworker, survives self-inflicted and serious bullet wounds, he will be charged with first degree murder in the slaying of his wife, Helen, 42, and son John, 20, a Purple Heart veteran, Police Chief Meade K. Bates said today.

The police chief said Kalis trapped his son in the kitchen and shot him yesterday at 10:30 a. m., felled his wife with three bullets as she fled down the front steps, then turned the revolver on himself and fired a bullet through his head. Coroner D. C. Lavender said Kalis had been under sanitarium treatment for "nervousness."

Kalis' condition was reported today as serious. He has regained consciousness intermittently, popolice said, but has made no statement.

Chief Bates said the shooting at the Kalis home at 388 Springmill street apparently grew out of a quarrel between the father and son. Neighbors said the family had had several arguments recently.

Neighbors said they heard screams at the Kalis home and then saw Kalis chase his wife out the front door, firing at her with a pistol. She died soon afterward.

The son who police said apparently had been wounded first, died on the front porch. Bullet holes in the kitchen indicated that the shooting started there.

After shooting his wife, Kalis fired a shot into the right side of his head, Chief Bates said.

Mrs. Kalis was reported to have been in the basement when she heard the first shot. When she ran upstairs to telephone for help, Kalis ripped the phone from the wall and opened fire on her, police said the neighbors told them.

The son served in the Marines in the Pacific. He was employed at the Park theater.

There are two daughters, [illegible] and a son, [illegible] in the family.

Salvation Army Carries on Full Program

Community Fund Provides Help for Work Here.

This is one of a series of articles to be published in The Star to acquaint its readers with activities of the Marion Community Foundation, which will conduct its annual fund campaign Oct. 21-31. The campaign goal is $67,190. Your fair share is a day's pay.

A broad program of social service, welfare work, religious activity and character-buildings is conducted the year around in Marion by the Salvation Army, which centers its activities in a large building at 141 North Prospect street.

Both the number of persons reached by these activities and the variety of services rendered make imposing lists.

In the last 10 months, 9,822 persons attended Salvation Army class meetings for programs broad enough to reach every age group. Social and welfare activities reach hundreds of others who temporarily need a helping hand.

For 59 years the Salvation Army, with its small group of trained personnel and its advisory board of volunteer Marion residents, has carried on its work in Marion. It is logically one of the agencies to share in the $67,190 campaign of the Marion Community Foundation Oct. 21-31. Its share of the campaign goal is $9,400.

Record of Assistance

Under the heading of welfare work, the Salvation Army, in a one-year period ended last April, gave assistance of 84 families, distributing 673 garments, 73 pairs of shoes, three grocery orders and six fuel orders. Its aid to transients included 91 instances of help to veterans and their families, aid to 17 women, meals for 102 persons, lodging for 49, garments for 88 and emergency transportation for four. At Christmas time, 93 families embracing 234 persons received grocery orders, 400 kiddies received toys and Sunshine baskets went to 240 persons. This program reached such institutions as the children's home, city jail, county jail, the county home. Willing to tackle any kind of personal problem that comes its way, the Salvation Army received and filed 13 job applications and managed to find work for eight of them. To complete the year's work, they located three missing persons.

Under the heading of class activities, the Salvation Army conducts many different group meetings for persons of different age groups. Here is a summary:

Junior Legion—for boys and girls 6 through 11. Meetings are held once a week and the program includes a flannel-graph Bible story, handicraft work, songs and games. Attendance at 33 class meetings totaled 1,190.

Corps Cadets—for young people 12 years of age and over. Meetings are held weekly to study the Bible and Salvation Army doctrine. Thirty-two class sessions had an attendance of 265.

Torchbearers and Crusaders—for young people from 12 to 30 years of age. Fifty-six sessions devoted to spiritual, educational and recreational programs were attended by 806.

Sunday school class meetings totaled 96, with attendance totaling 4,482.

Cubs — Boys from 9 to 12 years of age; affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America. At 47 meetings the attendance totaled 833.

Boy Scouts — for boys 12 and over; affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America. Attendance totaled 713 at 46 meetings.

Young People's Salvation meetings—16 classes with attendance totaling 259.

Daily Vacation Bible School—20 classes with 1,273 attending.

The Salvation Army occupies its North Prospect street quarters under lease. There are plenty of rooms to make possible several simultaneous group meetings, and the quarters have been brightened with colorful paint, paper, drapes and furnishings. A large room on the south side of the first floor has been converted into a chapel.

One of the many activities the

Youth Hurt on Elopement Trip Dies in Hospital at Columbus

Injuries suffered in an automobile accident Monday, proved fatal last night to Charles Ray Chevalier, 19, Navy veteran, of 462 Decatur street. He died at 10:30 in Mt. Carmel hospital in Columbus.

The accident happened when he and Miss June Kerr, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kerr of 179 Johns street, were on their way to Kentucky to be married. Miss Kerr suffered only slight injuries. Their car struck a guard rail and overturned near Circleville. Chevalier's injuries included multiple lacerations and brain concussion. The girl suffered lacerations and shock. The family reported her condition as good, though she is under the care of a physician at her home. She is a pupil at Vernon Heights Junior High school.

Chevalier was born Sept. 7, 1927, in Columbus, at son of Jack B. Chevalier and Thelma Dawson Chevalier, the father a native of Delaware, O., and the mother of Union county. Having served in the south Pacific area during the war, he was a baker third class in the U. S. Naval reserve and received his discharge from active duty in June. He held the victory medal of the Asia-Pacific theater.

A pupil at Vernon Heights school before he entered service, he enlisted in the Navy Oct. 12, 1944. Since his discharge he had been employed at the Royal Master Appliance Co., Inc., electrical appliance manufacturing firm which took over recently buildings of the [illegible] Plant here.

GOVERNMENT SETS NOV. 1 AS TIME FOR DECONTROL

PROGRAM FOR JUNKING CURBS IN HIGH GEAR

American Economy To Be Freed 2 Months Before Original Plan.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—The administration's program for ridding the American economy of federal restraints clicked into high gear today, with Nov. 1 set as the deadline for scrapping a great majority of wartime price controls.

A high official said that foods, services and many commodities will be taken out from under ceilings by then — two months or more earlier than had been planned before President Truman's meat decision.

This official emphasized to a reporter that it will be "an orderly retreat" from controls and will not result in "riot or chaos."

Furthermore, for the somewhat less immediate future, he added that price lids will remain on rents, automobiles, building materials, refrigerators, furniture, basic clothing items and farm implements.

Major Developments

Major developments on the fast-moving decontrol front included:

1. Flour, bread and other bakery products figured in speculation as the next important food items to be freed of price ceilings.

The milling industry formally requested Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson to lift controls from wheat flour, semolina and farina, declaring that wheat supplies are ample.

2. Coffee went off the controlled list completely. And price lids were hoisted slightly on jams, jellies, fruit preserves and men's white handkerchiefs among other things. The increases will amount to one and two cents a pound jar for the sweets and from seven to 14 cents for handkerchiefs.

3. South of the border, the vanguard of 500,000 lean young Mexican beef cattle began to move toward fattening pastur : and ranges throughout the southwest United States.

Meat Avalanche Rolls

4. An avalanche of meat—the highest in 10 months—jammed the nation's livestock markets. Prices collapsed from $1 to $10 a hundred pounds yesterday. Butter, eggs and poultry also dropped.

5. Administration leaders, forecasting a congressional drive aimed at junking all controls (including rents and veterans housing program), agreed that the entire OPA staff of 34,000 and its functions must be slashed to the bone before the lawmakers reconvene in January.

6. Labor members of the wage stabilization board renewed their demands on the White House to kill all wage controls immediately.

7. The CIO cost of living committee assailed rising meat prices and declared that "millions of

British from King To Barmaid Like Gen. 'Ike'

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
Associated Press Writer

LONDON, Oct. 18 — General Dwight D. Eisenhower's recent triumphant returned to the United Kingdom afforded conclusive proof of the uninhibited affectionate esteem in which he is held by the British people.

No precedent existed for such an unqualified lionizing of an American visitor by all classes of the king's subjects.

Colorful civic and academic ceremonies which made Eisenhower an honorary Doctor of Laws at the University of Edinburgh and at Cambridge and a freeman of the Scottish capital and of the ancient Burgh of Maybole, coveted distinctions though they are, merely were the formal manifestations of a regard expressed most significantly on the sidelines.

The measure of popular feeling was found in what people said to one another as they awaited a glimpse of the general and in comment on the street, in the subways and buses and, of course, in the pubs.

Barmaid's Remark Typical

Typical was a barmaid's remark: "No matter what we may think about some of the other Americans, nobody can say anything but the best about Ike."

Disappointment was keen when he deprecated rumors that he might succeed W. Averell Harriman as U. S. ambassador to Great Britain.

"No American visiting this country has had his unfailing gift of saying the right thing at the right time with such faultless taste," on woman novelist observed.

"Ike is worth the whole lot of professional diplomats," said a major of artillery.

In view of Eisenhower's tact and humor, sincerity and skill in putting people at ease, such comments from the more serious minded may not be so surprising.

Idol of Girls

What is astonishing, though, is the way he has endeared himself even to the flip and frivolous fledglings. Movie-struck girls have made him their hero, too, placing him ony a cut or two below Laurence Oliver and Humphrey Bogart, and that is idolatry indeed.

When the general landed at Prestwick, crowds of stenographers, telephonists, waitresses, hostesses and others surged toward his plane. The WAAAFS on duty would have been more fluttery only if the visitor had been Tyrone Power or Bob Hope. Children piled into city streets, wavving small U. S. flags and yelling "Ike."

Nothing cracked Eisenhower's good humor, neither rain nor cold, the meals he missed, the delays in some of the rituals, the importunate adulators nor pointed questions fired at him by news writers. Asked at press conference such personal questions as why he didn't wear more of the medals and ribbons to which he was entitled, he dismissed the subject with an airy, disarming pleasantry. Good humor was the keynote of every conference.

Royal Family Join In

Members of the royal family made no bones about their delight in entertaining him and his family. They found him charming and sharp of wit. Queen Mother Mary, herself as direct as a machinegun burst, was taken especially with his forthrightness.

From the royal menage right down to the scullery help, fish peddlers and scrub women, Ike really rates, and now that he has a home in Ayrshire's Culzean castle to come to whenever he wants, a lot of people feel that he is an ex-officio citizen who can throw just about as much weight in empire councils as Canada, say, or Australia.

MT. GILEAD — Gas fumes forced closing of the Mt. Gilead schools Wednesday afternoon while school officials conducted an investigation to determine the source. A pile of ashes which had been accumulating behind the building for years was smoldering and fumes from it are believed to have backed up into a nearby manhole and entered the buildings.

The Mt. Gilead fire department was called and extinguished the fire in the heap of ashes after pouring water on it for over an hour. The fire is believed to have been burning for six weeks and is thought to have originated from rubbish burning on the heap.

LaRue High School Forms Drama Club

LARUE—The Sock and Buskin Players dramatic club has been organized at LaRue High school under the direction of Mrs. Hearn, the new dramatic coach. Loren Gillespie was elected president, Ralph Wilson, vice president, Irene Benson, secretary, Winifred Jones, treasurer, Richard Ford, program chairman, and Betty Hooper, news reporter.

The club, which is centered around the speech class, expects to produce several plays during the year, and in time qualify for membership in the National Thespian club.

The first play sponsored by the players is "Let Me Come Back" which will be presented at the school auditorium Oct. 29 at a joint program of the music and drama departments of the LaRue High school in observance of National Education Week. Representatives of all classes are participating.

The name Sock and Buskin is suggested by the foot attire worn by the early Roman comedians and villians and now symbolizing comedy and tragedy.

Correspondents' Visit Seen As Tip-Off To Goering of Hanging

By KINGSBURY SMITH
Representing the Combined American Press

NUERNBERG, Oct. 17—A visit by eight Allied correspondents to death row in the condemned block of Nuernberg jail late Tuesday might have prompted ex-Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering to take the poison which enabled him to cheat the gallows of Allied justice.

As one of those eight correspondents, I believe that the commotion caused by our visit may have served to tip off Goering and the other condemned men that the hour of their doom was about to strike.

At the front of each cell door stood a GI guard whose duty it was to keep constant watch on the man inside the cell. I noticed at the time that some of the guards turned around to see what the commotion was about as we entered and started to move along the corridor.

GI's Turn Heads

With most of the correspondents, including the writer, stopping to glance over the shoulder of the guards into the condemned cells, it was only human for some of the GI's to turn their heads momentarily to see what was going on.

It is possible that in the moment, or moments, the GI guarding Goering's cell turned his head, the crown prince of Nazidom managed to slip into his mouth the vial containing the cyanide of potassium.

It was just a few moments before when I had peeked over the guard's shoulder into Goering's cell. Lying stretched out full length on a small iron cot was the bulky figure of the man the Allied governments were most eager to have lead the parade of death to the gallows.

He was the only one of the old guard, top level Nazi chieftains they had managed to have convicted and condemned to death by the international military tribunal.

Lying Motionless

He was lying absolutely motionless, with his head resting on one side and his eyes closed, as if in sleep.

Goering was the only one of the condemned eleven who was in bed. Most of the others were pacing their cells.

Goering's cell was the last one the correspondents reached on their initial walk down the corridor. I had seen the inmates of other cells moving around and it struck me as rather strange that Goering should have gone to bed so early and apparently was already asleep.

I turned to the duty officer of the guard, a young lieutenant standing by, and said, "Is he asleep?"

The lieutenant shrugged his shoulders and said he did not know.

A few minutes later, Col. Selby Little, the deputy security commandant, said to me, "Isn't that just like Goering—going to sleep on his last night?"

Thought It Strange

I still thought it was strange and so remarked to one of my colleagues.

We had been told by Col. Burton C. Andrus, the security commandant, that after our visit was over he would return and read to each condemned man the tribunal's sentence of death. That was to be the first official indication to them that they were soon to start the parade of death to the gallows.

I was walking beside Andrus and said to him:

"If they don't already know it they certainly will after this visit of ours and after you have read the sentence to them."

Putting an arm around my shoulders, the colonel replied: "I know it. That's why I want to get this over with quickly."

I do not believe that Andrus was keen about the visit of the correspondents to the condemned block.

The mistake, in my opinion, was that we were taken through in a body. We should have been taken through one by one, or not more than two at a time.

Officers Installed By LaRue Legion Units

LARUE — Phillippi - Clement Post No. 101, American Legion, held installation of officers and initiation of new members at a meeting Monday night in the Legion hall.

Installation was conducted by Francis Field, Marion county Legion commander, for the following officers: Charles T. Gillespie, commander; Andrew Ford, 1st vice commander; Rowland McElheny, 2nd vice commander; W. W. Bowles, finance officer; Wilson Blue, adjutant; Phillip Albert, sergeant-at-arms; Richard Roux, chaplain.

Ladies of the auxiliary were guests.

A talk was given by Dr. H. A. Hoopes, who, as a state delegate attended the recent national Legion convention in San Francisco.

Auxiliary Meeting

Installation of officers was held Oct. 9 at a special meeting of Phillippi-Clement American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 101.

Bertha Williams, past president, was installing officer, assisted by Cleta McElheny as sergeant-at-arms and Laura Riley as pianist. Officers installed were: Leona Oberdier, president; Winifred Blue, first vice president; Minnie Dunkin, secretary; Florence Bowles, treasurer; Helene Tate, chaplain; Naomi Gillespie, sergeant-at-arms; Rosella Sager, past president.

It was reported that a first aid kit had been refilled at the school and would be in charge of Mrs. Lena Gillespie.

FLIERS TO HOP INTO AVIATION HALL OF FAME

By E. V. W. JONES
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla. — Who were the five greatest men in aviation? A great many persons who are pretty big in the aviation game themselves are pondering the question just now. For nominations are in order for the Aviation Hall of Fame.

The Hall of Fame is sponsored by the International Aviation Fraternity, with headquarters in Miami. The shrine is to be founded here, with five new names entered about Jan. 1 each year.

Ten thousand letters asking for nominations are being mailed all over the world.

Wilbur and Orville Wright appear to have clinched the two top places among the first five nominees, although not every letter lists them.

Gen. Carl Spaatz, chief of the Army Air Forces, nominated the Wright brothers, and then listed, in order, Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, Gen. Henry H. Arnold, and Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle.

"Billy" Mitchell drew Gen. Spaatz' nomination because he was the first American officer to fly over enemy lines in World War I, set a world speed record of 224.05 miles an hour, and demonstrated the offensive power of the airplane over battleships.

Gen. Arnold was taught to fly in the Wright Brothers school in Dayton, O., set an altitude record of 6,540 feet on June 1, 1912, and in World War II, directed the U. S. Air Forces.

Gen. "Jimmy" Doolittle, after a long history in the development of aviation, was the guiding genius of the air attacks which isolated Japan.

T. P. Wright, Administrator of Civil Aeronautics, nominated only Orville Wright of the brothers who invented the airplane, and cast his four remaining votes for Gen. Arnold, Gen. Doolittle, Igor Ivan Sikorsky, the designer and builder of aircraft, and Edward Pearson Warner for his work as engineer, editor, consultant, teacher, student and director of the aeronautical arts.

Kenneth E. Allen, managing editor of American Aviation Publications, gave T. P. Wright a vote and also named Dr. E. P. Warner. His other votes went to Joseph J. George, air transport meteorologist, for his research in the weather field; C. R. Smith, chairman of American Airlines, for his campaign to bring down air travel costs, and Robert W. Ayer, engineer, for his contribution to all-weather flying, particularly in the field of radar.

Paintings and plaques will honor those selected. Aviation centers throughout the world will be asked to display lithographs of aviation's great.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

After an Operation

Following operations, a condition known as pulmonary embolism may develop. This is a condition in which a small bit of coagulated blood gets into the blood stream and is carried to the lung.

Although several methods of preventing this condition have become available during the last few years, according to to Drs. Conrad R. Lam and Donald H. Hooker of Detroit, the number of deaths resulting from this disorder is still too large.

In studying cases which occurred in a series of over 100,000 operations during a 21-year period they found that pulmonary embolism occurred more frequently in men than in women, and most often in the older patients. They noted that it occurred only once in persons under 20 years of age. Those between 40 and 50 years of age were most frequently affected, while fatal embolism was noted most often in those past 60.

Operations on the abdomen were most often responsible. Head and neck operations did not produce pulmonary embolism. Other operations in which this condition frequently develops are removal of the gallbladder, removal of the prostrate gland, the uterus, hernia operations, and removal of the appendix.

The first sign of pulmonary embolism is pain in the chest. The spitting up of blood is also another frequent symptom. X-ray examination of the chest is, of course, helpful in making a diagnosis. The attacks tend to come on in most cases on the sixth and eleventh days following operation.

There are two substances which may be of value in preventing pulmonary embolism. These are heparin and dicoumarin. Both of these substances have the effect of slowing down the clotting of the blood. However, it would not seem advisable that these substances be given to every patient who has an operation.

If a patient has blood clots in any of the veins, such as those of the legs, prior to the operation, it would appear advisable that one of these two substances be employed. Tying off such thrombosed veins prior to operation may also be of value.

Getting the patient up early after operation may be another helpful measure in preventing pulmonary embolism. In fact, this probably offers the most promise as a preventive measure which can be easily applied to most cases.

Vets Training Class Organized at Upper

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 18—The first veterans' training class in agriculture was organized this week at Upper Sandusky High school with 24 enrolled in evening classes. The instructor, Lawrence Everhart, of nearby McCutchenville, was assisted by R. E. Zimmerman, veterans administration assistant agricultural training officer of Mansfield.

The training course, under provisions of the G.I. bill of rights, gives the veteran established on the farm 200 hours of classroom instruction and eight hours a month of on the job instruction at the farm.

Enrollment in any one class is limited to 25. Applications received at the veterans service office here call for the establishment of several more training classes. Present plans are to start additional classes here and in other schools in Wyandot county as soon as qualified instructors can be found.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

WHO ARE SINNERS?

Editor of The Star: "Drunkards are not Sinners." That was the caption of a sermonette that was published in The Star a few weeks ago. I noticed that two writers have written their views on this sermonette; but with your permission I would like to add my bit.

The caption and sermon forced this question on my mind. If "Drunkards Are Not Sinners" then just who are sinners?

For help to settle this question in my own mind, I looked up what St. Paul has to say. (I consider St. Paul good authority.)

I find in I Corinthians 6:9, 10 that St. Paul names ten different characters that he says "shall not inherit the kingdom of God." Here is what he says: "Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners shall inherit the kingdom of God."

St. Paul puts the drunkard in the same category with the thief, the adulterer and the idolater, etc. and plainly says that none of them shall inherit the kingdom of God.

But if we reason by deduction from the sermon referred to, and the caption given it we are forced to say "The Thief Is Not a Sinner," and "The Adulterer Is Not a Sinner." Somehow in spite of this forced deduction I am still of the opinion that THE DRUNKARD IS A SINNER."

Yours for The Truth.

OHIO POLITICOS WATCH PRICES

Both Democrats and G. O. P. Hope High Cost of Living Will Help Them.

This is one of a series of reports on conditions in states with major campaigns.

By JACK BELL

Associated Press Political Reporter

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—Ohio politicians watched the rising retail price of reappearing meat today for its effect on a hard-fought governorship race and a senate contest in which former Republican Gov. John W. Bricker currently is given a wide margin.

Wrapped up in the housewives' reaction to high cost steak may be not only a decision in the battle [illegible]-year-old Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche is putting on for reelection, but the political futures of three possible presidential candidates—Lausche, Bricker and Senator Robert A. Taft.

Democrats, fighting an apparent G.O.P. trend in this political crossroads of the nation, privately hoped that irritation over the cost of ceiling-free foods might turn away the voting wrath Republicans confidently contend will give them a big-scale victor in senate and house races.

With Bricker looked upon as an almost sure-thing winner in his race against Democratic Senator James W. Huffman, attention has turned to the campaign in which Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland, 51-year-old Republican and former attorney general, is attempting to unseat Lausche.

Most observers count this race a relatively close one in which a victory by Lausche would project him into 1948 Democratic national calculations as a possible vice presidential—if not presidential candidate.

Bricker Strong Candidate

If Bricker makes the wide sweep now generally being predicted for him here, he will emerge as a strong candidate for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination. Taft, who is campaigning for his potential senate colleague, might find in a Bricker victory a powerful state rival for the nomination some of Taft's friends think he wants himself.

With local issues practically forgotten, party leaders on both sides agreed generally that the public's reaction in the next two weeks to President Truman's lifting of meat controls may be a deciding factor in the governorship contest and in house races where the Republicans say they are counting on picking off at least three of the state's six Democratic congressmen.

Bricker predicted a Republican victory of landslide proportions in Ohio. Huffman, with strong CIO-PAC backing in industrial centers, disputed this.

Lausche's friends said he is pinning his hopes for a victory over Herbert on the so-called "independent" vote he has had in the past.

With any kind of a general sweep by Bricker and the state ticket, the Republicans count confidently on knocking over three of the six Ohio congressional seats now held by the Democrats.

G.O.P. campaigners are concentrating their top efforts on the Third district, where Republican nominee Raymond H. Burke is opposing Democratic incumbent Edward J. Gardner; in the 14th where Republican Fred W. Danner is contesting Rep. Walter B. Huber (D), and in the 16th where Henderson H. Carson is the G.O.P. nominee against Rep. William R. Thom (D).

In addition, the Republicans have some hope of ousting Rep. Michael J. Kirman (D) in the 19th district with their nominee, Norman W. Adams.

It probably would take a landslide, G.O.P. leaders said privately, to win the 20th and 21st districts in Cleveland, where Reps. Michael A. Feighan (D) and Robert Crosser (D) are seeking reelection.

The Democrats, however, weren't conceding anything. They, in turn, were out for three Republican seats, sparked by a vigorous CIO-PAC campaign against Rep. Edward O. McCowen (R) in the Sixth district. He is opposed by Franklin E. Smith, Democratic nominee.

The Democrats also are giving vigorous support to Michael V. Disalle, their nominee, in his effort to beat Rep. Homer A. Ramey in the Ninth district, and to Robert T. Secrest, Democrat and former congressman, in his battle with Rep. P. W. Griffiths (R) in the 15th district.

Solon Says Truman May Restore Curbs "After Elections"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18 — Rep. Earl R. Lewis (R-Ohio) suggested today that price ceilings on meat can be restored "after the election."

The chairman of a house Republican committee investigating the wartime powers of the President declared the present price control act permits imposition or restoration of controls on any scarce commodity.

"Clearly," Lewis told a reporter, "President Truman, the secretary of agriculture and the price administrator can reimpose ceiling prices on meat after the election.

"And, if they act in accordance with a precedent established during the Roosevelt administration, they will do so."

Lewis said that food rationing was stopped just before the 1944 election but revived after the election when President Roosevelt reported that a survey indicating adequate supplies was in error.

"It was evident from the tenor of President Truman's speech eliminating price controls on meat that he was doing so reluctantly," Lewis said. "The President gave no indication how long they would be removed.

"It would be very easy for the President to announce by the middle of November or the first of December that meat was again in short supply and, therefore, reestablish price controls.

"In other words, controls could be left off meat until after the election and be reimposed thereafter, as was done in 1944."

Marion Man's Mother Stricken in Columbus

Mrs. Charlotte Williams, 89, mother of F. F. Williams of 545 Blaine avenue, died yesterday in Columbus where she resided. She had been in ill health some time and suffered a stroke of paralysis. For a time, she made her home with her son here. She was a native of Licking county. Her husband, T. T. Williams, died in 1932.

Surviving with her son here are three other sons and a daughter, D. L. Williams of Reynoldsburg, Charles Williams of North Canton, and Nelson Williams and Mrs. Frank Lahm, both of Columbus.

Funeral services are set tentatively for Sunday in Columbus.

Cut in Russian Arms Funds Aid To World Peace

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The relationship of the new Russian budget to the international search for peace is more important than all of the official Soviet statements since V-E day.

It means a reduction of more than 40 per cent in her military establishment, continued maintenance of which has been an ever-present factor in the policies of other powers.

It serves to verify the belief of those who have insisted that, regardless of what her efforts to spread Communism may lead to in the future, Russia has no intention of taking chances with war now.

May Reduce Army

It may mean a reduction of the Red Army forces which are living off occupied countries in Europe and the easing by that much of their struggle for economic rehabilitation.

It may be a verification of the widely-held opinion that Stalin puts the up-building of the Soviet Union at home ahead of ideological warfare, and that the Russians, in their postwar expansion abroad, have merely been making immediate hay out of world unsettlement.

The size of standing armies, of course, is not everything. The United States war effort, developed on a base of a tiny military establishment and a tremendous industrial establishment, is a constant reminder of that. Diversion of Russia's money and manpower from the military to the industrial field will not weaken, but rather increase, her ultimate military strength. But in Europe the size of standing armies, and whether they are capable or incapable of quick blows in support of diplomatic policy, always has meant a great deal in the matter of attitude.

If, as the tremendously increased budget for scientific development indicates, Russia is plunging whole hog into the race for atomic power, she is doing no more than others.

If atmic fuels for peacetime purposes cannot be produced without at the same time producing materials which can be made into atomic bombs, neither can great industrial establishments be built which cannot be channeled into war production.

The Russians say frankly that the five-year plan is for the purpose of making the Soviet Union strong economically and militarily.

The result is all a matter of intent. The more Russia reduces her actual military establishment, the less the world will question either her immediate or ultimate motives.

SAYS POWER STRIKE HITS VETS' HOUSING

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 18—The crippling effect of a 25-day-old power strike here has affected seriously the national veterans' housing program, an industrial spokesman declared today.

George W. Hartner, advertising and sales promotion manager of National Electrical Products Corp of Ambridge, Pa., said the strike seriously has affected the firm's production which "has been going almost completely into veterans' housing."

The firm is reputed the nation's largest maker of general "roughing in" electrical fittings, employing 2,100 workers. The plant, virtually shut down in early days of the strike, now is back at 50 per cent operation, "but not 50 per cent production," Hartner said.

These developments highlighted the strike today:

1. George L. Mueller, president of the Duquesne Light Company's striking independent union, agreed to appear Monday in Washington before the house committee on unAmerican activities.

2. The Allegheny Steam Heating Co. restored heat and hot water to about 300 downtown business buildings after AFL-teamsters passed through power union picket lines to deliver about 20 freight car loads of coal. All buildings served will be heated by tomorrow, the company said.

3. Separate and joint sessions of union and company negotiations were held with U. S. mediators yesterday, without any report of progress being made.

Commenting on the invitation to Washington, union president Mueller said he would go and take another union official with him. He added:

"The charge that our union is Communistic is without any foundation and is company-inspired."

Those Who Do Not Forget

THERE is possibility that some of the diplomats and other governmental representatives in Europe are not as grateful to the United States as they ought to be for the tremendous contribution this country made toward achieving victory in the war. Developments and some of the words spoken by those in official circles of our wartime allies indicate that their memories are failing them now that our mutual foes have taken the count.

But we believe there is reason to feel certain that the peoples of the countries Uncle Sam helped to save have not forgotten and that they will be everlastingly grateful. Especially must this be true in their feelings toward those to whom they owe their greatest debt—the young men of America who underwent the hardships and hazards of the battle-fronts, offering their lives on foreign soil.

The city of Marion has received news providing evidence that this sense of appreciation and thanks continues strong and undiminished in the hearts of those who make up the great majority of the population in the liberated countries. This was the report telling of a family in Holland which has volunteered to care for the grave of Pfc. Ronald D Musgrave, a Marion soldier who lost his life fighting in Germany. This mission of remembrance and patriotism is being performed although the grave of the Marion boy is miles from the home of the family in Holland and the distance must be covered with bicycle transportation. Only the wealthy have automobiles in Holland and we take it that this family is not one of wealth, except that which is measured by the riches of heart and character.

News of this sort serves to offset, at least in some degree, the too numerous reports which tell of friction and controversy among official representatives of the various nations, apparently endangering prospects of the enduring peace which ought to result from the victory won by such fine and brave young men as Pfc. Musgrave.

Probably this family in Holland was one of the vast number in Europe which gave sons to the cause of human rights and freedom. They do not forget, they cannot forget. Left to them, the work of effecting a lasting peace would be brought to speedy and unalterable consummation.

Stabilization Also Is Psychology

EXPERT advisers are full of wisdom about the means of reaching the elusive goal of stabilization. The community, the area, the nation and the world must manipulate the factors of food supply, productive enterprise, credit, currencies, manpower and natural wealth thus and so—and if they do these things correctly there will be a condition of balance. At the same time, political factors must be arranged and rearranged to eliminate disturbances, stresses and strains.

But stabilization also is psychology, the way millions of human beings feel about all the other circumstances which affect their daily lives. In the realm of psychology, which is pleasantly vague and therefore inviting to explore, it may be that stabilization in the wake of the war is proceeding more rapidly than can be appreciated by those who keep their gaze fastened on events in diplomacy, economics and domestic and international productivity and exchange.

The fact is that human beings in the mass, having been cruelly shaken up and dislocated by the most devastating war in history, are growing accustomed to their postwar circumstances and, in most cases, making the best of them, bad as they frequently are. In many instances the factors on which experts dwell at such length that they often seem to be laboring the point, are incidental to such neglected influences as the reunion of war-scattered families and community groups, the revival of community enterprise and the gradual accumulation of purpose under conditions of peace.

The emotional repercussions of the war years are becoming less violent as the original explosions recede into time. Populations which had known no routines for years other than the routines of war are getting back into the grooves and ruts of living which can plan ahead to the day after tomorrow. The longing for security which the insecurity of war sharpened is being translated, little details at a time, into whatever security is attainable under conditions of peace. The instinct held in common by most human beings, to create and stick to a patern of existence favorable to survival is reasserting itself. That in itself is a large measure of stabilization, even if it cannot be measured like freight-car loadings, man-hours worked, prices paid and currency exchanged. If it could be measured, stabilization might seem infinitely closer than it can be made to seem by appraising it statistically.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Finds Truman Goes Astray Only on CIO Policies.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—A political innocence and deficiency are being assumed for President Truman in popular report. These are natural public reactions to the series of failures of policy which the President has suffered, and no doubt these will prevail in the imagination of the man in the street.

But the truth of the matter is far differtn from that—and more subtle.

Mr. Truman has simply failed every time he undertook to champion a CIO policy, and he has won on the single notable occasion in which he opposed CIO.

This is the inner history of his administration. He went against CIO's demand for appeasement of Russia, and won national bi-partisan unity for his foreign policy. When he lapsed on this and let his Commerce Secretary Wallace make a speech to CIO in New York advocating a middle foreign ground against his own Byrnes policy, he had to fire his own secretary in order to retreat back to firm ground.

Had Backing At Start

At the outset of his administration he enjoyed full congressional champion the key CIO bills on champion the key CI Obills on unemployment insurance and spending. With that step he alienated congress, and lost his fight, getting only some meaningless little bills passed. On the strike legislation matter he lost, and wound up with no power whatever in this crisis, in full accord with precisely the same scheme of affairs. When he clung to then OPA controls too long, he had to surrender again.

The CIO policies have thus proved to be wrong, because they were not founded upon what is, but upon what the leftwing union leaders thought ought to be. They were popularly unrealistic. They were not conceived to give the people what they want, or in recognition of their current troubles, but what the union men thought the people should have.

This is clearly discernible. The unemployment insurance motif was promoted by the CIO at a time when the nation was critically short of enough workers to do its business and when prospects were it would be short indefinitely. The spending bill was advocated when the budget and national income were already at highest levels and going higher, and thus when spending should have been curtailed.

The Russian appeasement policy could not stand in the face of Russian bulldozing efforts to build a postwar empire.

Likewise, of what good were OPA controls on meat prices at a time when there was not any meat?

The CIO chieftains and economists have just planned unwisely. This was unavoidably true because their primary interest was not in the people but in their own unions—which want greater government spending and unemployment insurance at all times, a strict OPA to hold prices down while their wages go up and, of course, their unions are admittedly influenced by the Communists on foreign policy. Thus their shemes could not win. They were not even considerate of the facts of life which were apparent to an average citizens.

Bound To Try It

The charge has been made that Mr. Truman got his job because he was "cleared with Sidney" meaning the late Mr. Hillman of CIOPAC at the Chicago convention, although this has been officially denied. At any rate the late Mr. Roosevelt played the same game, and it is natural his handpicked successor would try it, even after the game had run out into an inflationary era, calling for different tactics.

This is the nub of the matter. Does it not point to an obvious solution? Fortunately the CIO policies, at least the old Hillman policies, are now just about washed away. The issues ahead center around the necessity of making a profit system work (which could be killed by inflation) and of maintaining a unity now existing concerning expansion of the Russian empire.

Domestically we must get production and a stable economy. We must get a settled period of prices and wages—not continued strivings to get one above another. This may be less difficult than you would imagine. Recent experiences have worked toward unity on this problem also. The AFL led the demand, for instance, for abandonment of OPA, and shows a greater realization now that business cannot pay high wages without commensurate profits. Unless CIO stops and seizes hold of this trend in the coming elections of congressmen, it will be the prospective pattern for the future.

The popular Truman jokes thus bring me only a mild smile. If Mr. Truman has learned that CIO could not possibly plan a successful economy in a crisis because of the prejudiced attitudes it has, from which it cannot escape—or if CIO has learned it—and the coming elections continue to register the decline of its arbitrary power over presidents, the future of the country may be worked out on more sensible lines with a chance for success.

Lunch To Be An Executive Session

The Congressional restaurant will henceforth be closed to sightseers.

Never let it be said our representatives aren't sensitive souls. They just couldn't enjoy their pork-chops with groups of meat-hungry tax-payers looking on.

Especially not with elections coming up.

Of course, the House gallery will remain open to the public. You can still see your congressman sleep if not eat.

But the nation's capitol will have lost one of its most famous tourist attractions when the 50 cent conducted tour no longer includes a glimpse of Representative Rankin with his Gray Plate Special.

Congressman have had enough of living gold-fish lives . . henceforth the public trough will be private.

And a shame it is, too. Some of the most spectacular filibusters are conducted with knife and fork.

Southern Gal Gets Out Vote

By ADELAIDE KERR

MARY PRICE Shows politicians how it's done.

* * *

A LOT of politicians who are trying to "get out the vote" this year, might learn a thing or two from Mary Price.

She planned a vote-getting campaign in North Carolina, which added 10,000 names to the books in the sixth congressional district alone and increased extensively the registration in other districts.

Miss Price, an attractive, earnest, dark-haired Southerner with ten years' business experience in the North, but no experience in politics, is executive secretary of the Committee for North Carolina, which is a member of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. The conference, which has in its ranks some leading business men, educators, writers, lawyers and social workers, was founded with the aim of bettering conditions in the South — jobs economy, education, health and homes. Part of its aim is to spur the South's citizens into action at the polls.

"Many Southerners haven't bothered to vote in the past, so we put on a four-part campaign to get them to the polls," Miss Price explained on a flying visit to New York.

"First we worked with other organizations. We supplied speakers, material and ideas to the Y.W.C.A., church groups and women's organizations. The Junior Chamber of Commerce asked how their members could cooperate with us and we helped them with posters and radio programs.

"Second, we publicized the issues of the campaign—not the personalities. We sent the candidates questionnaires and asked them to state their position on OPA, minimum wages, atomic energy and so on. Of course some of them tried to squirm out of it, but we just kept right at it 'til we got an answer.

"In many towns we had open meetings and invited both Democrat and Republican candidates to state their position on issues from the floor and submit to questions. Then we investigated the candidates' past records, showing what action they had taken on important issues and mailed that record to 5,000 civic leaders. If we could have afforded it, we should have mailed them to every voter.

"Next we organized the housewives who telephoned everyone listed in the telephone book and reminded him to vote.

"And finally we organized the college students. They gave radio programs and skits and went into small towns on Saturdays and put up striking signs saying 'This way to the polling place.'"

Miss Price's present job is very close to her heart.

"There is a whopping job to be done in the South and the more we look at it, the more it seems to us that it is important to the whole country that we do it," she said. "According to United States government figures, the South has 28 per cent of the country's people, 33.6 per cent of its farm land, 40 per cent of its forests and 27 per cent of its mineral wealth, yet the South's per capita income in 1943 was only $666 compared with the national per capita income of $1,031, and it now pays only 6.5 per cent of the nation's income taxes. If the per capita income of the South could be increased, it could become a tremendous market."

Administration Changes in Air

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—The administration is already looking forward, a bit glumly, to the time after the election. No one has thought up a satisfactory solution of the problem which will then almost certainly be paramount—the total impotence resulting from Republican control of congress while a Democrat is in the White House. But several fairly radical changes in the human decoration of the Washington scene are being tentatively canvassed, with a view to post-election reorganization of the battered administrative machinery.

The most important of these suggested changes (if it materializes) is the transfer of the able James Forrestal from the Navy department to the London embassy. The picture with regard to the London embassy is, to be sure, far from clear thus far. When he took Averell Harriman for his cabinet, President Truman specifically promised Secretary of State James F. Byrnes that he would have the final say in the matter. Byrnes has yet to speak.

Meanwhile, the egregious Joseph E. Davies, who turned the job down a year ago, has now become bored by the Hollywood splendor of his Washington life. He wants the London place so badly that he might almost give one of Mrs. Davies' yachts for it, but the word is that barring miracles Davies is disqualified. Another possible nominee is Under Secretary of the Treasury O. Max Gardner. This choice would be generally approved except by Gardner's chief, Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder, who relies considerably on Gardner's superior political and other sophistication. A third man in the running is Under Secretary of State Will Clayton, who could probably have the job if he wanted it but does not want it. Such are the names now being mentioned. Tomorrow may produce new ones.

Smoothing the Way

Among these names Forrestal is not the best bet, since it is far from sure that he would take the nomination if offered. The fact that he is definitely under consideration is of special interest, however, both because of his distinguished service at the Navy department, and because the motive of sending him to London would be in part to smooth the way for next session's legislative program.

An Army-Navy unification bill is certainly going to be brought forward by the President. It will probably provide for a single secretary of common defense presiding over a semi-unified department, with the joint chiefs of staff still functioning, and civilian secretaries heading up each of the three services within the department.

Transferring Forrestal to London would remove his powerful opposition to the President's bill and retain his services for the administration. It would also make room for a new naval secretary, the specifications for whom are that he shall be a non-partisan figure of real eminence, good enough to be promoted later to become the first secretary of common defense.

Nor is this by any means the only change now in the wind. There is real substance to the reports that the chairmanship of the new atomic energy commission will go to David Lilienthal, and that Lilienthal will be replaced at the TVA by Senator Robert M. LaFollette Jr.

Then, too, President Truman and his Postmaster General Robert Hannegan are looking for a post for Chester Bowles, which would please the left. And another just remotely possible leftish gesture is the appointment of Edward Prichard Jr., most brilliant of the younger New Dealers, now in law practice in Kentucky, to the under secretaryship in the commerce department. This would involve getting rid of Alfred Schindler, Henry A Wallace's clumsy gesture toward the business community, but the Prichard appointment would be so interesting that it is worth mentioning even as a very long shot bet.

The list might be prolonged still further. For example, the President signed an IOU marked "Justiceship of the Supreme Court" when he named the unhappy Lewis B. Schwellenbach to the Labor Department, but Schwellenbach, after the last year, might be willing to settle the debt on a percentage basis. And a very substantial debt is also owed to the treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, George Killion, who is tired of raising the wind. Finally, the old rumor has recurred that the President will do something about his White House staff.

As before, there is some solid foundation for it. In the first place, the new White House counsel, Clark Clifford, by long odds the clearest headed and most efficient of the White House habitues, is reported to have recognized the need for improved White House staff work. Second and more important, the misfortunes that began with the Wallace episode brought the President a succession of pleas from Democratic leaders to hire help of higher quality. He responded with just a shade less than his usual firmness.

It is probably too much to hope, however, that the President can overcome his loyalty to such old friends as Snyder, Brigadier General Vaughn and George Allen. And with no solutions likely, either for the problem of the White House staff, or for the problem of the Democratic President-Republican congress relationship, it is a sound forecast that the next two years will be one of the most depressing epochs in American political history.

Beware of Slap-Happies

By TRUMAN TWILL

We are not going to throw away that all-weather, preshrunk, indestructible piece of beefsteak that has served the Twillery so long an well—not yet.

It will hang on its string from the dining room chandelier for a few more months, until mea has had time to get from wherever it is to whe it is going, at a price that bears some resemblance to reason.

The Twills will take another gnaw on O Faceful whenever their meat-hunger gets o edge. This will not bar the possibility of picking up a chunk of new meat once in a while but only slap-happies can expect to wolf dow meat every day for a long time to come, unless they want to run prices out of sight.

This column does not get into politics, but reserves the right to watch human beha The meat muddle has more to do with beha than politics, especially the muddle immedi ahead.

The government has the theory that all ci zens are slap-happies and must be taken ca of for their own good. It has insisted tha the people are their own worst enemies and mus be given a defense in depth against themse

As recently as President Truman's announ ment that government control over meat an meat prices was being abandoned, thoug hadn't worked for the last few months, he wa concerned lest the American people rush to meat markets and get killed in the rush.

This is to bet you a bundle of one-inch steak against a rib roast, Mr. President, that you di talk this thing over with Bess, or the gir her bridge club. They would have known bette than that.

People in Washington, because of that ci concentration of people mystified by anyth outside their inner circle, get into the hab o thinking slap-happies have taken over the cou try from coast to coast. They haven't. The citizens who keep ticking are still here.

They've been sitting back, watching, keeping out of the way of an unstable mob of peop giddy from the war boom—people with mor money to spend than their intelligence coul handle, people unhinged by the lovely, lovel notion that from now on life would be ju the way it was when government was br them into a semblance of wartime behavior wi lollipops. It isn't going to be that way.

The United States must choose between tr to stretch the war boom into eternity and losin its shirt, or getting back to common sense. I a showdown between the slap-happies an everybody else. Sure the slap-happies will mo meat counters. Sure they'll look for ways throw away their money. But they're runnin out of money, which is the signal for the so element to take over and keep prices with reason. The government doesn't see it tha way, but we'll bet Bess Truman does, if somebody had thought to ask her. We wonder wha ever became of Bess.

Youngstown Gambling Inquiry of '42 Gives GOP Ammunition

Paper Scores Lausche for Impugning Herbert's Motives in Vice Probe; Governor's Liquor Challenge Also Answered.

By The Associated Press

Ohio's political campaigners relegated the meat shortage to a secondary position Thursday and renewed efforts to claim for their respective parties the lead in anti-vice crusading.

The 1942 state investigation of gambling and rackets in Youngstown made by Thomas J. Herbert, then attorney general under John W. Bricker and now Republican candidate for governor — while Bricker campaigns for U. S. senate seat on the same ticket — provided ammunition for the G.O.P.

The Youngstown Better Government League protested to Gov. Lausche, Democratic candidate for reelection, that Lausche, in calling Herbert's 1942 Mahoning county racket prosecutions a mockery upon justice" made "an unjustified attack upon the motives of a man whose record in public office has been beyond reproach."

The league's statement said it recalled that former Gov. Bricker and Attorney General Herbert warned us that the citizens of Mahoning county, aided by county and city officials must be responsible for clearing the admittedly immoral conditions. We regret that this warning was not heeded, and wish to point out that responsibility for failure to enforce law rests squarely upon local officials.

Fines Exceed Cost

Fines collected in the state investigation far exceeded" the $75,000 quoted by Lausche as the cost of the probe, the statement continued.

Herbert, speaking in Cleveland, referred to his Youngstown clean-up drive by advising the governor to "look to the files of the Youngstown Vindicator to learn the names of the 31 who were indicted and to realize they were not insignificant, but rather the ring-leaders in the rackets."

Answers Lausche Dare

Herbert also replied to a challenge by Governor Lausche "to tell the public if I 'approved the illegal change' of price of some brandy from $35 to $42.20 a case."

"He ought to know," Herbert said, "that liquor prices, like everything else, were frozen under OPA regulations which specifically permitted increases only to cover increased federal taxes. The $7.20 represents nothing but new federal taxes imposed and effective in April, 1943."

"Battles Racketeers"

Governor Lausche, in the second of his statewide radio addresses, declared that he has been "battering with all my might" against the exploiter and racketeer and "my opponents who are now attacking me and in a large degree impeding my efforts, never uttered a word of opposition to the practice when they were in public office."

Later, at Galion, O., Lausche asserted many companies prevented by his administration from selling unsound securities in Ohio were "contributing money and campaigning actively for election of my Republican opposition."

In Columbus, Democratic Lieut. Gov. George D. Nye declared that Paul M. Herbert, Republican who is opposing Nye's reelection, was not "true to his trust as an official of the state" in accepting "employment from evil-doers who are fighting charges made by the state." Nye cited a list of individuals and clubs he said Herbert defended before the state liquor board when lieutenant governor.

Bricker Assails Huffman

At Elyria, John W. Bricker asserted that his Democratic opponent for the U. S. senate, Sen James W. Huffman, could not make up his mind even last week whether meat controls should be continued and inferred that much of the meat and other shortages were due to increased shipments abroad, specifically to Russia.

"The New Deal," Bricker said, "defied economic laws—but it reaped economic chaos."

Senator Huffman, speaking in Toledo, said Bricker was "deliberately attempting to mislead the voters of Ohio when he even intimates I will ever support Communism or subversive ideologies," and asked Bricker "why he has not repudiated the support of Gerald K. Smith and his group of Fascists?"

In Bellaire, Sen. Scott W. Lucas, Illinois Democrat, praised Huffman as "one of the most outstanding new members who has entered the senate during the last 10 years" and contended Republicans like Senator Robert A. Taft and former Gov. John W. Bricker "are only waiting for an opportunity" to fan into action the flame of isolationism."

"Bricker Walks Tight Rope"

Bricker, Lucas asserted, "must walk the tight rope for Senator Taft, or else" and could not "bring himself to disagree very emphatically with Senator Taft" in Taft's recent "brazen condemnation of the Nuernberg verdicts."

Taft spoke in Carbondale, Ill., Thursday night, contending that the Democratic party "is squarely divided" into a group "dominated by the PAC — and the PAC is largely dominated by Communists" and into another group of "conservative representatives from the south and a few others."

Two Republican congressmen from Ohio attacked the Truman administration for its meat and sugar programs.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, Republican congressional campaign director, declared in a radio address that President Truman brought on the meat shortage by vetoing the first price control bill "against the advice of his own Democrat legislative leaders in order to please his more radical supporters.

Rep. Alvin F. Weichel of Sandusky sent a telegram to the office of price administration labeling the OPA sugar program "illusive and artificial" and contending sugar supplies were sufficient to permit the government to export "more than 500,000,000 pounds from January to July, 1946."

2,000,000 STUDENTS IN U. S. UNIVERSITIES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18—An all-time peak of about 2,000,000 students, including 800,000 veterans of World War II—are enrolled in the nation's universities, colleges and technical schools, Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati, reported today.

He said reports from 450 schools in all sections of the country, submitted for his November tabulation for "School and Society," educational journal, show that institutions from the smallest church colleges to huge state and urban universities "are crowded literally to the walls of their classrooms, laboratories and dormitories."

A listing of enrollments for "typical" schools included the following Ohio institutions:

Ohio State, 24,000, up 84 per cent; University of Akron, 3,203, up 145 per cent men and 21 per cent women; Cincinnati, 7,300, up 44 per cent men and 32 per cent women, and Toledo, 4,300, up 510 per cent men.

THINK GOERING TOOK POISON IN TOILET

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Oct. 18—Hermann Goering probably slipped his poison vial into his mouth while seated on the toilet in a corner of his cell Wednesday night, prison officials theorized today.

Col. B. C. Andrus, prison commandant, showing correspondents the cell which had been occupied by the condemned Reichsmarshal, pointed out that the toilet was so located that the guard peering constantly through the door could not possibly have seen the upper part of the prisoner's body.

It was recalled that Nazi labor chief Robert Ley managed to avoid detection in the same way when he hanged himself by attaching a wet towel to a plumbing fixture

The legs and feet of the prisoner were plainly visible to the guard, who was instructed to enter the cell on the slightest suspicion. Some prisoners frequently objected to this, said Capt. Robert Starnes of Birmingham, Ala., a prison officer.

How the poison vial, contained within a two-inch cartridge, got into the cell remained a major mystery. Col. Andrus said it would have been impossible for Goering to conceal the cartridge on his person for any length of time. He said the prison doctor never at any time made a rectal examination of Goering after the Nazi leader was committed to this jail.

A high source, meanwhile, revealed that the Allied control council had rejected after long and bitter argument a proposal that the brains of Goering and the 10 executed leaders who followed him in death be examined scientifically.

Money, Butter Stolen at Cardington School

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON—Thieves entered the school building early Wednesday morning and took checks and currency totaling a little over $200 from the office of Supt. J. L. Patterson In addition $8 was taken from the office of Principal T. A. Gantz and six pounds of butter from the school cafeteria.

Deputy Sheriff Ed McLain and Marshall W. K. Strawder made an investigation but were unable to determine the method used in entering the building. No outside windows or locks were broken or molested.

The board of education was in the building until after 1 a. m. holding a regular monthly session and it is believed that the prowlers were in the building when Supt Patterson locked up This is the second robbery at the school in the last six months Several classroom door windows were broken last May by thieves but nothing of any great value was missing

THE PRICE OF MEAT

As a consumer who is concerned with the supply of meat and the price of meat, you are entitled to know, right now, these inescapable facts:

Meat supplies now are at a record low. Supply lines are empty. People, who haven't had much meat lately, want it. But it will take time to restore meat to retail counters.

When there is little meat and everybody wants it the price is bound to rise. But more meat is coming in the months ahead, and as supplies increase and approach the demand, the price is bound to level off. That's the law of supply and demand in operation. Nobody can repeal it.

Nobody in the meat business controls prices. Consumers determine prices by what they are willing to pay for meat. That determines what retailers can pay meat packers for it, and finally, in turn, what the meat packers can afford to pay for meat animals.

Right now, of course, there is bound to be stiff competition in the buying of livestock. There are thousands of meat processors, all anxious to restore their businesses. Competitors in the business want all the animals they can buy so they will have meat to sell . . . and the best price will get the animals. There also is keen competition in the sale of meat because meat processors must have customers, and the lowest prices for meat will get the business.

So . . . as meat gradually starts to return shortly the counters of retail stores, we urge consumers:

1—Don't insist on only the fanciest kinds and cut.
2—Do shop around for the best buys in meat. There is as much good nutrition in a savory stew as there is in a fancy porterhouse.

It is the earnest desire of the meat packing industry that, as quickly as possible, consumers again may find on retail counters everywhere the kind of meat they want, when they want it, at fair competitive prices . . . like it used to be just a few years ago. Remember?

MR. AND MRS. J. M. CUSICK of 344 Mary street are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their granddaughter, Patricia Ann Cusick to Robert Clements, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Clements of Upper Sandusky. The wedding will take place Saturday, Nov. 16, in the rectory of St. Mary Catholic church. The approaching wedding was announced to a group of friends of the bride-elect when Mrs. Cusick entertained Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Forrest Sharrock of 240 Silver street.

Miss Cusick is the daughter of R. J. Cusick of Cleveland and a graduate of St. Mary Parochial High school. She is employed with the Marion Power Shovel Co. Her fiance is a graduate of the Upper Sandusky High school and is employed with the Eagle Nest hatchery there.

The announcement was made by little Kirk Gregory Sharrock, dressed as cupid, with wings and carrying a bow and arrow. A large blue heart bearing the inscription "Pat and Bob, Nov. 16" disclosed the wedding date. Cootie was played, first honors going to Mrs. Helen Somerlot. Miss Bonnie Musgrave was consoled. For refreshments the guests were seated at small tables marked with heart-shaped place cards caught with blue and white ribbons.

Present with the bride-elect were Miss Olga Lowinger who will be her attendant, Mrs. R. C. Clements and Mrs. Z. Clements of Upper Sandusky, Lt. Maxine Clements of Washington, D. C., Miss Teresa Grahouski of Warren, Mrs. Frank Daum, Mrs. Agnes Lowinger, Mrs. Helen Somerlot, Misses Louise Bender, Irene Conklin, Mary Ellen Miller, Bonnie Musgrave, Florence McKinney, Elaine Buck and Jeannine Daum.

OWU Students Get TB Test and Vaccination

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Oct. 18 — Two preventive medicine measures are being given Ohio Wesleyan university students as part of an enlarged student health program introduced by Dr. G. T. Blydenburgh, director of student health. Students are being given tuberculosis x-ray tests this week, a mobile x-ray unit being stationed on the campus to handle x-raying of the 2,100 students.

The other preventive measure is vaccination for influenza. This inoculation to provide immunity against two major types of influenza will be started within a few weeks, Dr. Blydenburgh said.

The measures were part of a program planned to give more attention to health habits of students at Ohio Wesleyan.

CONGRESSMAN McGREGOR SPEAKS AT ASHLEY RALLY

Candidate Blames Shortages on Present Administration.

Special to The Star

ASHLEY — Approximately 175 attended the Republican rally held in Ashley school auditorium Tuesday night. The meeting was in charge of Committeeman Mrs. George Hershey. Mrs. Hershey introduced Ansel Lockhart, county chairman, who in turn introduced the fololwing: Mrs. Walter Penry, president of the Delaware County Women's Republican club; Paul Barrett of Delaware; A. D. Preston of Sunbury; Mrs. Gladys Kempton of Delaware, candidate for clerk of courts; Major James Samson, Delaware county commissioner; Cloice Barton of Sunbury, James Blaine and Clyde Lewis, candidates for prosecuting attorney; Judge F. A. McAllister of Delaware; and Walter Penry, state representative.

Mr. Lockhart introduced the speaker, J. Henry McGregor, candidate for reelection to congress. Mr. McGregor criticized the present administration for current shortages claiming many millions of the products are being sent abroad.

He declared, "I speak to you as a person, now, and not as merely a candidate. I believe in the people running the government and not the government running the people. There is no use taking the New Deal from the White House unless we take it out of the state and the county. If the New Deal gets control, where are the freedoms that our returning veterans have fought for?"

American Activities Directed by Mysterious Hans Berger, Ex-Communist Says.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Louis F Budenz, former editor of the Daily Worker, Communist paper, who renounced Communism to rejoin the Catholic church, has identified a man he said was known as Hans Berger as the mysterious figure directing all Communist activity in the United States.

Budenz, who left the party a year ago and now is an economics instructor at Fordham university, told newsmen yesterday that Berger's real name is Gerhard Eisler. Budenz said he took orders from Berger when he was editing the paper.

Budenz declined to give further information about Berger, declaring he would be a witness late next month in Washington before the house committee on un-American activities, and that he would lay before the committee certain documents and references containing information about Berger.

In a speech Sunday at Detroit, Budenz told of the existence of a secret but dominant figure in American Communist affairs but mentioned no name.

Never Shows Face

Concerning the alleged No. 1 Communist director, Budenz said then:

"He never shows his face. He does not appear in official Communist buildings. Few Communist leaders here ever see him. They all, however, follow his orders or suggestions implicitly."

The Daily Worker, in today's edition, published an interview with Gerhard Eisler, quoting him as saying the charges were "too ridiculous to answer." The story did not refer to him as Berger.

Meanwhile, PM quoted Eisler as saying in an interview he "didn't know Berger from Adam." The story in PM stated that "Eisler believes he was the intended victim of a carefully conceived plan to nourish the growing anti-Soviet feeling in this country."

The interview in the Daily Worker described Eisler as a "slight, scholarly, middle-aged journalist" and said he and his wife had been scheduled to sail for their native Leipzig today "with state department approval."

Exit Permit Cancelled

"But their exit permit," the story continued, "had been cancelled without reason on Wednesday after their baggage had already cleared customs and been placed aboard ship."

During the course of the interview, the Daily Worker quoted Eisler as saying:

"I have been a member of the German Communist party but I have never been a leader or representative of the Communist International during its existence."

The paper gave these details about Eisler

"In 1933 x x x (he) was forced to leave Germany and, until 1936 kept one jump ahead of the Nazis from Austria to Czechoslovakia, Denmark and France. In 1936 he fought in Spain in the Loyalist ranks. During all this time he actively supported the German underground

Arrested In France

"Just before the outbreak of World War II, at the end of August, 1939, (he) was arrested in France for voicing opposition to the Munich betrayal. For two years he was imprisoned in the infamous Vernet concentration camp."

The Daily Worker also quoted Eisler as saying he landed in the United States "against my will and intentions." It added

"He landed on American shores June 3, 1941, and was placed on Ellis island, where he was kept for two months."

The story said Eisler and his wife finally were permitted to enter as visitors and added:

"For one and a half years since the end of the war, the Eislers have been applying for permission to work for a democratic Germany in their native land."

CONTROLS

miners, railroad, steel and other workers will lack important ingredients in their diet"

Auto Production Slumps

8. Automotive production, still under controls, slumped during September. Announcing this, the civilian production administration blamed shortages in sheet steel, pigiron, copper and lead.

September passenger car output fell 2,162 below August, with a total of 239,140 units for the month. Trucks dropped even more sharply.

9. With a possible $380,000,000 meat subsidy saving in sight as a result of livestock decontrol, the government announced that an extra $35,000,000 will be expended for flood control.

Flood Control Boosted

Budget Director James E. Webb said flood control will cost $130,000,000 instead of the $95,000,000 ceiling previously fixed in the administration's economy-stabilization drive. Officials said the additional grant is not expected to affect plans for a total retrenchment of $2,100,000,000 below the original government estimates for the year.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, Republican campaign director, told a radio audience that Mr. Truman's meat decision was "political" because:

"Its apparent purpose, in the closing days of the campaign, was to stem the growing tide of criticism and opposition which threatens to sweep the Democrats out of the control of congress."

LOLOS

Dressed in gypsy-like skirts and jackets, they appeared not unreasonably shy. They are fairly attractive.

When a Lolo dies, his body is entrusted to a priest, who arranges the burial. Relatives never are told where the dead was interred.

The Lolos evidently treat their slaves with consideration. There are three classes—those taken while young, those trained from birth, and adults captured in raids on Lolo villages.

Slaves' tasks are not onerous and the captives share food and quarters with the blackbone superiors.

That a white man could survive among them for years, if he were captured uninjured and was submissive—seems highly probable.

Search Party Finds No Trace of Fliers

By The Associated Press

SICHANG, CHINA, Oct. 18—A U. S. Army search party returned Wednesday from the wilds of China's Far West without evidence that any lost American fliers have been enslaved by the fierce Lolo tribesmen.

They brought back the bones of one American crew member who perished in the crash of a Superfortress in March of 1945. The bodies of three others were recovered by the Chinese months ago.

The remaining six of the crew may have parachuted into the dense jungleland and been captured by the Lolo warriors, but this is speculation and there is as yet no evidence to back it up.

The American graves registration party, accompanied by Associated Press Photographer Julian Wilson, scaled 14,400-foot Liangpeashan in the Wutai mountain range and looked at a portion of the wreckage.

They are the first known white men ever to climb the treacherous peak, and the whole trek into the wilds required a week.

Lt. Col. Herbert Wurtzler, Capt. Edward L. McAllister and Wilson climbed the peak and found the bones of the one crew member

TWO GAS STATIONS LOOTED BY THIEVES

Loot Consists of $36, Accessories and Cigarets.

Two gasoline filling stations were burglarized last night, police said.

C. W. Grunden, manager of the Pure Oil station at East Church and South Vine street reported his station was entered through an open window and $36, 12 cartons of cigarets, and two boxes of spark plugs taken.

Melvin Miller, manager of the Firestone station and store at 273 East Center street said his station was entered through a forced window, out apparently nothing taken but an electric razor. Waste paper baskets were emptied over the floor and merchandise disturbed, but none taken, he said.

LAUSCHE

now 4,000 more beds in the state for inmates of welfare institutions than when he first became governor. He also explained that he had been instrumental in having attendants in these institutions work an 8-hour day instead of the former 12-hour day. More money has been expended, too, for the aged, blind and dependent children in the state, he said.

In speaking of the returned veterans, Governor Lausche said that he believed that the people owe something to those men "who fought for us and earned far less money doing it than the people who stayed at home." He said that he will lead the fight to restore in part what they lost while they were away.

Keep Watch on Securities

Regarding the commerce department, a division which has control over banks, building and loans, insurance companies and securities, he said that this department will make certain that insecure stocks will not be dumped into Ohio, thus protecting the people of the state against bad investments.

The liquor department did a business of one hundred fifty million dollars during the past year, the governor said. He told of the department's work in ousting slot machines from liquor houses and efforts to keep the business operating decently.

Repeats Challenge

Under the administrative division, he repeated his challenge which he made at Van Wert Wednesday when he asked Herbert and John W. Bricker, the present Republican candidates for governor and U. S. senator, to explain the "Amos and Andy" deal. This was a deal where brandy had been bought in December, 1943, in a transaction involving what Lausche alleges was "an illegal" price increase

(In a campaign address at Ironton last night Herbert answered the governor's charges on this point, declaring the increased payments represented advances in federal liquor taxes.)

Gov. Lausche was introduced by Robert L. Moulton of Galion, commerce director in the governor's cabinet.

Mayor R. L. Hertzer of Bucyrus, Crawford county Democratic executive committee chairman, presided. He introduced James T. Welsh of Steubenville, candidate for state treasurer; Jack Siemon of Kenton, candidate for congress, and three county candidates, Carl Baker of Tiro, for state representative, Z. O. Roop, for county commissioner, and Clarence Metzger, for county auditor.

MRS. TAFT

munists support the Republican ticket next month.

Prior to Mrs. Taft's address county and district candidates were presented. Congressman Frederick C. Smith offering a short response to his introduction by W. M. King, chairman of the county central committee.

Congressman Smith declared "there is no difference between the New Dealism in America, the Nazism of Hitler and Stalin's communism." Emphasizing the point he pointed to the threat to seize the cattle to relieve the meat shortage. "The only reason the government did not seize the stock was because it was impractical because the government had not advanced its controls far enough to get away with it." If permitted to remain the present government will seize the stock and grain just as it has seized the mines." The future of America may hinge on this election. Do we want our children to inherit the New Deal?

Also sharing the speaking was Mrs. Elizabeth Linard, state committeewoman from the 18th district and member of the state educational committee, who spoke briefly on the fundamentals at stake in the coming election.

Terry Drake, candidate for state representative and Earl. Leonard, candidate for county commissioner made brief responses to their introductions.

Mrs. W. W. Wheatcraft, central committeewoman, presided for the early part of the program, leaving with Congressman and Mrs. Frederick Smith before the appearance of Mrs. Taft to go to Upper Sandusky where Congressman Smith also addressed a public rally.

Morral Driver Fined $100 in Court Here

Mrs. Florence Stafford of Morral was fined $100 and costs and her driving rights were suspended for three years today in municipal court when she pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. She was arrested on South Main street today at 2:15 a. m.

"MISS FINLAND". Wearing a silver crown, symbolic of beauty's royalty, Anja Kola, 17, of Lappentanta, Finland, is shown after she had been chosen "Miss Finland of 1946" at Helsinki recently. She received two thirds of the total vote cast in the national beauty contest.

ESTONIANS DENIED ENTRY

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla, Oct. 18—A gallant band of 47 Estonian and one Finnish refugee remained on their battered little fishing boats today after the justice department said they could not enter the country. The justice department's decision, announced late yesterday in Washington, was a bitter blow to the refugees, who had sailed from their homeland first to escape the Germans and later the Russians and sought freedom in America.

Turks Send Dardanelles Reply to Soviet Union

By The Associated Press

ANKARA, TURKEY, Oct. 18—A detailed reply to the Soviet Union's second demand upon Turkey for joint defense of the Dardanelles was delivered to Russian representatives today, and informed sources said they were certain the Russian proposal was flatly rejected.

Turkey was reported to have turned down the Russian plan for administration of the vital strait only by Black Sea powers, and to have frowned upon any bilateral conversations with the Soviet Union preliminary to an international conference for revision of the 1936 Montreux Convention governing the strait.

Informants said Turkey probably proposed again that an international commission determine whether Turkey had complied fully during the war with the terms of the Montreux Convention.

Turkey has been backed by the United States and Britain, which likewise have supported her in her refusal to narrow the administration of the straits to the Black Sea powers. All three powers, however, have agreed to meet Soviet requests for various technical adjustments to meet changing conditions.

Huntington Workers Protest Court Order

By The Associated Press

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 18—About 4,000 employes of six Huntington plants failed to go to work today and an official of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) described their action as a protest against an injunction limiting the number of pickets in a strike at one of the establishments.

Raymond A. Gulley, representative of CIO-USA District 23, said production workers represented by United Mine Workers District 50 (AFL) had joined in the demonstration. He announced 1,500 unionists decided on the action at a mass meeting last night "without a dissenting vote."

Gulley said the protest is not against the companies, but against Common Pleas Judge H. Clay Wroth, who Wednesday made permanent a temporary injunction limiting pickets in a strike of 200 salaried office employes who walked out at International Nickel Company Oct. 1 in a demand for increased pay.

FBI Probes Missouri Vote

Records of 5th District Congressional Election Object of Search.

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18—The federal bureau of investigation turned its spotlight today on alleged vote fraud in the Democratic primary election last August in President Truman's home county where a political unknown, backed by the President and the Pendergast Democratic organization, defeated Rep. Roger C. Slaughter for renomination in Missouri's congressional Fifth district.

The FBI began its investigation following an independent one by the Kansas City Star which resulted in a series of stories containing charges of irregularities at the polls.

The newspaper disclosed that FBI agents had called for all the information it had obtained on the election last Aug. 6 in which Truman-backed Enos Axtell, a newcomer to politics here, won over Slaughter in the congressional district next door to the President's hometown of Independence, Mo.

FBI agents here, who said orders for the investigation came from the department of justice in Washington, also visited the election board here but its members remained silent on the purpose of the visit. Its chairman, Ludwick Graves, said tersely:

"I am giving out no statement."

It was the second time in 10 years that an election here has been investigated by a branch of the government. In 1936, a federal investigation resulted in the trial of 259 persons, mostly ward workers, and the conviction of scores of them.

The Star announced that it had turned its investigation files, compiled by 38 employes and the result of 8,000 interviews in homes of citizens, over to the FBI.

The newspapers printed pictures of cornfields and of a burned out apartment house which it said its investigators had found to be the addresses given for some of the "voters."

PLAN CAMPAIGN FOR UNION CO. HOSPITAL

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 18—A campaign for contributions totaling $110,000 to help finance the Union County General hospital to be located here was announced today. The hospital is to have 52 beds and estimated cost is $450,000.

Several years ago a tax levy for $125,000 was approved by voters of the county and since that time about $75,000 has been contributed by firms and individuals. The new drive, to be officially launched after election day, is to bring the total to a level where federal aid will be granted.

The new drive is sponsored by the Hospital association of which Col. Dana M. Morey is president; John B. Gault, vice president; C. A. Hoopes, secretary, and C. B. Mills, treasurer.

FLOOD PROJECT AIDED

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18—Grant of an additional $35,000,000 for flood control expenditures in the nation makes possible continued work on projects now under way in the Ohio river division, reports Col. B. C. Dunn, division engineer. Col. Dunn said his office was preparing to halt operations in some projects for lack of funds, but the grant, announced yesterday at Washington, made possible "continued work on a reduced scale."

OHIO PLANT SOLD

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18—An offer of $90,000 by the McLain Firebrick Co. plant at Wellsville, O., by the McLain firm, present operator of the factory, was accepted today by the real property advisory committee of the regional war assets administration. The WAA reported the bid by the firebrick plant was the only offer received for the Wellsville plant, recently offered for sale as surplus government-owned property.

Columbus, as commander of the expedition, received 1,500 pesetas, or about $300 a year, his captains received 900 pesetas.

TRUMAN MODIFIES PUBLIC WORKS CUT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—Under pressure from congressmen, President Truman backed up some today in a 2½-month old plan to cut spending on public works this fiscal year by $700,000,000 from the $1,600,000,000 originally allowed.

The first officially announced yield was an additional $35,000,000 for expenditure on flood control, bringing to $130,000,000 the total to be spent for that purpose during the 12 months ending next June 30.

Budget-wise, that will soak up less than a tenth of the possible $380,000,000 saving to the government in meat subsidies that were discontinued by the President's action in decontrolling meat prices this week.

But congressmen's protests went into other aspects of the public works spending cutback, and further yielding by the President was indicated by announcement of Budget Director James E. Webb today:

1. "Additional limited expenditures of new flood control projects "of urgent necessity" are to be provided for by presidential direction after "approval on a project-by-project basis by Reconversion Director John R. Steelman," who checks on the use of scarce materials.

2. Webb and Steelman expect to reach decisions soon on how much to lift the present $85,000,000 presidentially-set ceiling on expenditures on reclamation programs

On the other hand, Webb passed over entirely any mention of the $90,000,000 ceiling on rivers and harbors work, which includes $25,000,000 for new projects as well as $65,000,000 on maintenance, and there were hints in official quarters that ceiling would stand.

Ohio Official Denies Employe's Charges

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Oct. 18—State Highway Director Perry T. Ford today branded as "absolutely untrue" a claim by Rex V. Hosmer, veteran highway department chief of Geauga county, that he was forced to resign because he objected to the solicitation of campaign funds for Gov. Lausche.

Ford said Hosmer's resignation came as he was facing departmental charges, and added "We've really got the goods on him." He declined to elaborate.

Hosmer claimed he had been asked to "kick in," placing money and his name and address in an envelope, but protested in a letter to the governor after reading in newspapers that Lausche would not accept campaign contributions.

Ford and other highway department officials claimed Hosmer had not been asked to contribute anything.

State Buys Surplus Operating Gowns

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—The state welfare department has purchased 11,900 surplus operating gowns from the war assets administration at "bargain prices" for use in Ohio's 27 institutions, Lee Pierson, department purchasing agent, reported today.

Pierson said the white cotton gowns were the largest of their kind and cost 81 cents each because of a 40 per cent discount allowed for state hospitals.

Supt. Edna J. Byers of the Girls' Industrial School, Delaware, said ties were cut off and used as apron strings, sleeves were made into brassiers and the bottoms snapped off for pillow slips.

There still was enough material left for night gowns, she added.

RUSS EXECUTE TWO

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Oct. 18—Trud, trade union organ, announced today two officials of the Moscow Regional Sewing and Fabric Repair union had been executed for stealing about 42,000 yards of cloth from the government. The two were identified as O. P. Panga and I. M. Matveev, vice chairman and commercial director of the union. Trud said that others among the 32 tried in the case received sentences ranging up to 10 years.

Housing Triple Play Brings 3 Home Runs

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O. Oct. 18—This triple play developed into three home runs

A Long Island man, moving here, advertised he would swap his Long Island apartment for one in Warren, but got no direct takers

A Warren couple, moving to St Louis, advertised the Long Island apartment in exchange for one in the Missouri City, and landed a trade

The Long Islander took the Warren couple's apartment, they took the one in St. Louis and the Missourians took the one in New York.

Packers Advise Not To Insist on Fancy Cuts

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 18—The American Meat Institute, in newspaper advertisements throughout the country, today urged meat consumers:

Don't insist on only the fanciest kinds and cuts.

Shop around for the best buys in meat. There is as much good nutrition in a savory stew as there is in a fancy porterhouse.

"Meat supplies now are at a record low," the Institute said. "Supply lines are empty. People, who haven't had much meat lately, want it. But it will take time to restore meat to retail counters

"When there is little meat and everybody wants it the price is bound to rise. But more meat is coming in the months ahead, and as supplies increase and approach the demand, the price is bound to level off."

Questions and Answers

ABOUT YOUR MARION COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE

Q. What do I get in return for my Community Fund Gift?

A. You get a better community to live in, and the personal satisfaction of having done your part to meet community responsibilities. Thousands of boys and girls will share in character-building activities in the next 12 months as a result of your gift. Hundreds of persons will get a helping hand to see them through an emergency. You'll be giving a lift to the boys still in uniform. You'll be helping to keep our boys and girls out of juvenile court. The Community Fund drive truly offers you a "bargain in giving."

Q. Who decided $67,190 was needed in this year's drive?

A. A Marion Community Foundation committee appointed for that purpose carefully analyzed the budget requests of all agencies before recommending this goal. It represents a fair amount needed to do a good community job in the coming 12 months, plus Marion county's share in two national campaigns.

Q. What agencies will share in our drive gifts?

A. Eight agencies will receive sufficient funds to operate for the next 12 months if the goal of $67,190 is reached. They are the Y. M. C. A., $16,665; Boy Scouts, $12,000; Girl Scouts, $7,750; Girl Reserves, $475; Salvation Army, $9,400; United Seamen's Service, $100; USO (United Service Organizations) $6,800; Hospitalization and Medical Care Fund, $2,000. These items plus a contingency reserve of $7,000, campaign expenses of $2,000 and operating expenses of $3,000 make up the $67,190 total.

Q. What is my fair share?

A. We can not set an arbitrary yardstick for giving. We know that if every Marion resident contributes one day's pay and if Marion county residents outside the city give approximately half that amount (since they are being asked to help only half of the agencies in this year's drive) we will reach our goal. In Marion city our slogan is "Say Okay with One Day's Pay."

OCTOBER 21 to 31

Q. How long will the drive be under way?

A. The campaign will open next Monday, Oct. 21, and will end Oct. 31. You can greatly shorten the campaign and save workers the burden of prolonged calls and possible repeat calls by having your contribution ready when they call. Remember they are making a cash gift to this drive and donating their services, too.

Q. Why should I be expected to give to the Community Fund Drive?

A. You have certain individual responsibilities such as your family and your home, to be met individually. Other responsibilities fall on the entire community and must be shared jointly by all of us. The only way these can be met is through united community action. Every one of us must voluntarily do our share if these important community services are to be maintained. There is no other way to finance their operations.

Q. Who is actually conducting this drive — the agencies or the Marion Community Foundation?

A. This is a Marion Community Foundation drive in behalf of all the agencies. With the exception of a few necessary office workers, everyone connected with the campaign is donating his or her services—there is no paid campaign manager. The single campaign for all the agencies saves you from being asked to give, in eight separate campaigns, to each individual agency. It saves time and money for everyone.

Townsend Rally

A meeting of the Townsend Rally club was held Sunday afternoon in the Central Labor Union with T. F. Manhart, chairman in charge. Mrs. R. C. Roller read items from the Townsend plan, followed by the pledge to the flag. Two selections were presented by the choir, and a song was given by a quartet composed of W. E. Sergent, Mrs. Lillian [illegible], Mrs. Rose Saiter and Chris [illegible]. A talk was given by Albert Brooks of Piqua. His subject was "In the Shadow of the Cross." Selections by the choir and the Townsend pledge closed the meeting.

In Loving Memory

★Of our husband and father, Mr. James W. Smith, who passed away one year ago, Oct. 18, 1945.

This day brings sad memories
Of our loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him each day
Are the ones who loved him best.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who lost can tell
Of the grief we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.
Friends may think that we forget him
When they see us smile,
But little do they know the sororw
That is hid behind a smile.

Harding Entertains Findlay As St. Mary Visits Richwood

Harding's gridders will entertain Findlay here tonight at 8 while St. Mary makes the trek to Richwood for their third contest in the Mid-State league.

Neither of the teams which will put on the local show can boast of impressive past records. Findlay has never failed to score but has failed to win while Harding scored in only one game out gained a 0 to 0 draw with powerful Columbus Linden McKinley.

That was the only game in which Harding junked their passing attack and although getting shoved around throughout the second half, that tie make their's the better record of the two teams which will play tonight's contest.

Findlay Has Fast Backs

Findlay is reported to have some reasonably fast backs and the ends are in the six foot class. Findlay's guards, Bradfuts and Gilts, are listed among the standout players. However, Harding is not lacking in strength at these positions. Don Zeisler, left guard, along with Captain Mario Nolli, right tackle, are probably the most outstanding players on the Marion team. The other linemen, Cline, Duer, Hoffman and Ralston, usually play good ball.

Marion has been marked by all the teams they have played as a soft touch and so the opponents, having confidence in their chances of winning, have played their best ball to make sure. Lima looked like a squad which wouldn't be out of Harding's class but after losing two in a row they bounced back to hand the Prexies their worst beating of the current season.

Findlay likewise will be on the rebound after losing to Lima Central 33 to 13 last week. Lima Central is rated as the eighth best team in the state while Mansfield, which beat the Chief Executives by an identical score, is rated second in the mythological top 10 in the state.

Another former Harding opponent which may be rated with the leaders before the season is completed is Barberton. This team against which Harding played surprisingly well, has already been mentioned as a possibility.

At Best Tonight

Being a home field ball club the Prexies will probably be at their best tonight thus making the possibility of their proving to be quite a match for the Trojans not to be counted out.

Irish in Dedication Game

St. Mary will play in a dedication game against Richwood at the new Richhwood stadium tonight. The stadium was erected as a tribute to the Richwood veterans of World War II and although it has been used previously, the formal dedication will be held in a special ceremony before the contest.

This will be the third game for the Irish in the Mid-State league and their sixth of the season. The Sons of the Shamrock have a record of two won, two lost and one tied against the Richwood record of four losses and a tie.

The rivalry between the two schools has been going for only three seasons and in that time St. Mary, although gaining two scoreless ties, has not won from the Richwooders. In 1944 the Richwood team turned in a resounding performance in downing the Marion Irish 28 to 0.

The Union county team will be one of the lightest that St. Mary has run into this year. They average 155 in both the line and backfield. This gives the local Parochials an advantage of approximately 15 pounds on the line and a little edge in the backfield.

The chief speaker for the dedication will be G. E. McFarland, county superintendent of Delaware and the first Richwood coach. The ceremonies will start at 7:30 p. m. with the kickoff scheduled for 8:15.

Joe Hart, 62, Dean of Texas Coaches

By The Associated Press

SPRINGTOWN, Tex. — Joe Hart and basketball are synonymous in this Texas town—speak of one and you think of the other.

Hart was born within a mile of this town, organized the first basketball team in the county and for 35 years has been coach of the game at Springtown High school. He is the dean of coaches in Texas.

Now 62, Joe figures he will retire. But he tried that once before and it didn't work. He quit just before World War II broke out. But the new basketball coach entered the service.

"We were unable to get another coach and I had to take over again," said Hart, who also is principal of Springtown High.

"But I think I'll retire now that a lot of young fellows are coming back and want to take up coaching. I want to do a lot of fishing, you know."

Hart went to high school only one year but studied while playing pro baseball for 14 seasons and passed the state teacher's examination. He broke into organized baseball in 1909 with Ft. Worth of the Texas league. He later played with Kansas City in the American Association and wound up his baseball career as manager of clubs in the old Texas-Oklahoma and Central Texas leagues.

FELLER BEATS PAIGE

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 18—Bobby Feller's major league All-Stars shutout Satchel Paige's Royals 2 to 0 in an exhibition baseball game here last night. Feller pitched the first five innings but struck out only two men. He was relieved by Spud Chandler. Paige also hurled five innings.

INSTALLED AS FAVORITES

AKRON, O., Oct. 18—Lightweights Willie Russell and Harry Hart, both of Columbus, have been installed as favorites in eight-round bouts tonight at the armory. Russell meets Benton Cobbins of Cincinnati, and Hart fights Art Bowie of Pittsburgh.

CLEVELAND MISSES TOP BOXING FRACAS

Commissioner Turns Down Graziano-Delicurti Bout.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18—Local fight fans almost had two top-notch attractions on their schedule today, but just almost.

A certainty, unless something unforseen occurs, is a 10-rounder between Ray (Sugar) Robinson, uncrowned king of the welters, and Artie Levine, the New York slugger, at the arena Oct. 28. That one is being presented by promoter Bob Brickman and matchmaker Larry Atkins who have been operating in the big time for some time.

Last night promoter Harold Evans and matchmaker Tom Stanley, who staged several programs at the Metropolitan A. C. last season, announced they had signed Rocky Graziano of Brooklyn and Vic Delicurti of New York, for a 10-rounder at public hall Nov. 6.

But Stanley Cofall, chairman of the Cleveland boxing commission, immediately turned thumbs down on the latter show.

Evans said Stanley signed Graziano in New York yesterday, and that Rocky had been guaranteed such a fat purse that $10 tops would have to be charged for the show.

"The commission is of the opinion," Cofall said, "that no promoter should be allowed to compete against Brickman and Atkins here until after he has proved he knows his business as well, or nearly as well, as they do. Brickman and Atkins have been doing a great job for the last few years. It would be particularly unfair to them to let a high-priced show go on Nov. 6, since they have Robinson and Levine scheduled a week from Monday."

Atkins and Brickman are charging $15 tops for the Robinson-Levine shindig, and said each fighter would get a minimum of $12,000.

Nenoff Defeats Jones in Wrestling Tussle

After being at a disadvantage throughout the first portion of the match, Steve Nenoff got an arm lock on Farmer Jones winning the first fall in 23 minutes. He took the second fall in seven minutes with a crab hold.

Jack Terry and Bob Cumming wrestled to a draw both gaining one fall. Cumming won the first fall in 24 minutes using a knee in the face and body press. Terry took the second fall in 12 minutes with an arm lock.

In the preliminary Don Tempie won from Philip Winslow in 6 minutes.

Football Moves To Front As Baseball Finally Gives Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Now that baseball has finally decided to give up for the year, college football moves front and center today to launch a week-end program in which the major unbeaten teams can begin thinning their own ranks by the simple expedient of knocking off each other.

Four of the ten top teams in the nation hook up tomorrow in two of the day's better games and three others will be meeting undefeated opponents. Two of the remaining three will be risking perfect records against clubs that are capable of producing upsets.

The only major eleven among the unbeaten powers whose shiny record is in no danger of losing its luster this weekend is Notre Dame, No. 2 in the current rankings. The Irish have an open date.

Army Back at Top

Army, back at its old stand atop the national rankings after making Michigan its fourth victim of the season and the 22nd in an unbroken string, takes on an invading Columbia team that has won its first three starts to gain the 11th spot in the countrywide rankings.

Alabama, ranked seventh this week, moves in against Tennessee, the No. 9 team, for a bout that may settle the Southeastern conference championship. Both are all-victorious and should have smooth sailing after tomorrow, with the winner almost certain to get a major bowl bid.

Michigan, ranked fifth despite its setback by Army, entertains an unbeaten Northwestern team, currently No. 10, in the Midwest's top attraction. The Big Nine title might well be hanging on the outcome of this struggle.

Texas, winner of its first four tilts and the present No. 3 club, will be challenged in its first Southwest conference test by an invading Arkansas outfit that is unbeaten in four starts although tied by Oklahoma A. and M.

Virginia Invades Penn

Pennsylvania, rated sixth, will be invaded by Virginia, unbeaten in three outings but tied by Virginia Tech.

UCLA, the all-victorious No. 5 team, visits California, which bounced St. Mary's out of the unbeaten class a week ago, and Georgia, ranked eighth, catches an Oklahoma A. and M. team moving in to start a comeback.

Three other Big Nine battles will find Wisconsin at Illinois, Iowa at Indiana and Purdue at Ohio State, with Minnesota entertaining an intersectional opponent, Wyoming. The Big Six schedule sends Kansas State to Oklahoma, Iowa State to Missouri and Nebraska to Kansas.

North Carolina moves in against Navy in the east, where such pairings as Yale at Cornell, Syracuse at Holy Cross, Dartmouth at Brown and Rutgers at Princeton will be augmented by intersectional games bringing St. Mary's to Fordham, Michigan State to Penn State and Marquette to Pittsburgh.

Georgia Tech will be at Louisiana State, Auburn at Tulane and Vanderbilt at Kentucky for other Southeastern conference struggles. Elsewhere in the south it will be San Francisco and Mississippi, Richmond at Duke, North Carolina State at Wake Forest, William and Mary at Washington and Lee, Davidson at VMI and Furman at The Citadel.

Southern Methodist goes to Rice and Texas Christian to Texas A and M. for additional Southwest conference games and Baylor invades Texas Tech.

Cards A 14 — And Wins

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Golfer Ted Law, owner of Briar Hills club, carded a 14 in a recent tourney at the club—and won the hole.

Law and his opponent climaxed a comedy of errors on the 13th hole where they sprayed a total of 13 balls into a lake and wound up being stuck on the tee for two and a half hours before they could complete the hole.

The club owner, who had batted shots into the water all day, found himself with only one pellet when he stepped to the long 13th. And he banged that one into the lake. Law attempted to borrow a ball from his opponent, but the rival had only one sphere left himself, and he shot it into the water, too.

So the golfers dispatched the caddy for more balls and sat down to wait. Matches began playing through and it was two and a half hours before the two men found a break and could play on with the new supply of pellets.

And then—Law dumped five more shots into the water, and carded a 14. But his rival hit six more into the drink and wound up with a 16.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 — Earl Blaik still is moaning about the shortage of reserves on his Army football team and he insists the regulars will have to play most of the game against Columbia tomorrow ...Maybe he's right, but let's take a look at some of those 'untried" plebes who are listed as third and fourth stringers ....Tackles Bert Aton and Bennie Davis attended Georgia Tech before going to West Point and Russ Dobelstein, whose brother plays for the pro Giants, was well liked at Tennessee; sub center Bill Yeoman came from the Texas Aggies, who'd like to have him back; so did guard Milton Routt, a second-year Army man ...In the backfield there's Charlie Gabriel, whose coach at Catawba college raised an awful fuss when he heard Charlie was headed for West Point. Another is Rudy Cosentino, a small-scale Doc Blanchard who was varsity fullback during his freshman year at Syracuse and who was highly regarded there .. Chances are that these guys won't even get into a major game this season, so the boys ahead of them must be better than fair.

Full Hockey Card Set for Tomorrow Night

By The Associated Press

With all teams except St. Louis and Springfield having seen action twice in the American hockey league's season, a full card of five games is slated for tomorrow night, and there are already signs of a tight race all around.

Evidence of good competition in the Eastern division was seen in the comeback last night of the Providence Reds in edging out the New Haven Ramblers 4-3. New Haven had taken the league opener Tuesday night by trouncing Providence 7-0.

At Indianapolis, the Buffalo Bisons spoiled the Capitals' home opening by turning in a 3-1 victory before 8,234.

OHIO GOLFER LEADS KNOXVILLE TOURNEY

Herman Keiser Enjoys One-Stroke Margin at Half Mark.

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct 18—Led by Herman Keiser of Akron who posted a one-under par 71 yesterday for a 142 total and a one-stroke lead at the half way mark, golf's touring pros tackled the rugged Holston Hills course today for the third round of the $10,000 Knoxville invitational event.

Keiser, winner of the Augusta Masters tournament last April but who hasn't won a tournament since, duplicated his opening day round with 35-36, despite a run of three holes during which he lost four strokes to par.

Clayton Heafner of Chicago, with a second-round 69 and a halfway mark of 143, was the only other competitor still under regulation figures for the 6,993-yard layout. Heafner's 69 was the day's best effort.

Today's field was stripped to the top 50 scorers and ties. The pros take Saturday off for the Tennessee-Alabama football game and conclude the event Sunday with a final 18 holes.

13 HORSES NOMINATED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18—Thirteen horses have been nominated for the $5,000 Ohio championship on the final day of the Beulah park running race meeting Saturday. In the first running of the mile and one-sixteenth event last year South Dakota set a track record of 1 43 3-5. Rip Away, owned and trained by Anthony Graffagnini, is the favorite among the nominations.

Lightweight Bout on WMRN Tonight

Two flashy lightweights have a corner on Manhattan's sock market tonight. Lulu Costantino (above) of New York's East Side and Johnny Dell, Brooklyn, have it out in a ten-round headliner that will be aired over stations of the ABC Network.

Lulu, the Candy Kid, is rated among boxing's foremost lightweights. He knows all the tricks of the fisticuffing trade. He feints—he boxes—he's noted for his shifty, agile footwork. And he has stamina and confidence.

Dell, however, in addition to being a right-sharp socker, also shines as a speedster and is able to withstand a rapid pace. Since his Army discharge early this year, he has been displaying fine form and has won seven out of nine fights.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WMRN (1490 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

And remember men . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

Buckeyes Set 20-Minute Workout As Purdue Arrives

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18 — A light 20-minute workout was on tap today for Ohio State's Bucks, who will seek their first Western Conference victory Saturday against Purdue before a sell-out crowd of 75,000 here.

Coach Paul Bixler put finishing touches on his offense during an hour workout in a drizzling rain last night, and all his first stringers were in condition to start.

Only assured change in the starting lineup will be at quarterback where Billy Doolittle, 202-pound Mansfielder who starred on the 1942 unbeaten freshman team before going to the South Pacific with the Marines, was tagged to replace Dick Palmer. Palmer's speed has suffered from an ankle injury in last Saturday's Wisconsin game.

Right end Jimmy Crane, troubled by a charley horse, may be sidelined Saturday at the kick-off in favor of Ernie Parks, giant Canton sophomore who's been working hard at pass-catching and is down to 232 pounds from the 247 he weighed when the season opened.

Halfback Jerry Krall, whom Bixler had been eyeing as a possible successor to Tommy James in the starting backfield, developed a foot infection that kept him out of yesterday's practice but probably will be in shape for some action Saturday, trainer Ernie Biggs said.

Jack Dawson, Toledo Waite's all-state tackle, won't see any action this season, doctors said yesterday. Dawson has been out of action with a broken bone in his hand, but it was thought earlier that he would be able to play in a few late season games.

Purdue's team was due here today. The Boilermakers' ace passer, quarterback Bob DeMoss, who tossed six completions in a row when the Indiana eleven whipped an unbeaten Ohio State team 3[illegible]-13 last year, has a dislocated shoulder from practice scrimmage.

ATOMIC ENERGY SEEN CHANGING DESERT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct 18—The intriguing idea of harnessing atomic energy to turn western deserts into fertile farms attracted official notice today even as a new federal agency came into being to plumb the depths of scientific possibilities.

President Truman seeking to plug the gap left when congress adjourned without setting up a projected National Science Foundation, created his own presidential research board and handed it this assignment:

"To insure that the scientific personnel, training and research facilities of the nation are used most effectively in the national interest"

At its head the President placed Reconversion Director John R Steelman, and among the 12 other members are Secretaries of Agriculture Clinton P Anderson Commerce W, Averell Harriman and Interior J A Krug

Almost simultaneously with the White House announcement late yesterday, Undersecretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman told a reporter that one of the top economists of the interior department had been discussing with him the possibilities of using atomic energy to purify sea water and then pump it inland to irrigate desert areas.

BATTLING BISHOPS DIG IN FOR OBERLIN

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 18 — There's a seriousness about Ohio Wesleyan's' Battling Bishops as they prepare for Saturday's game with Oberlin at Oberlin that Coach George Gauthier regards as a good omen. The Bishops have three good motives for beating the Yeomen, and they all add up quite well, they'd like to get back in the win column, like, too, to spoil Oberlin's nine game winning streak, and want to straighten out last year's 33-0 setback included in Oberlin's win streak.

A look at the movies from last Saturday's Baldwin-Wallace game indicates that the Red and Black need to polish up on offensive drive, and that's the main line of attack in this week's drill. The movies brought out some good points in the Bishop game, too. For example, Clint Stevenson's great play at quarterback, especially in his return punts. And quite noticeable was the good work under fire done by Jim Diamond and Bruce Heisler, three of the forward wall stalwarts

Coach Gauthier is still doing line-up juggling, partially because of performance and playing condition, but more to build new scoring punch without sacrificing defensive play

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION DEBATES PRESS FREEDOM

Canton Forum Airs Question with Regard to U. S. Papers.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O, Oct 18—A round table discussion of 'Is America's Press Really Free?'' last night brought from Erwin Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, a statement that newspaper "competition cannot return by means of government subsidy'

Canham declared he would be worried if all the newspapers in Ohio were owned, by one man, but said government interference would be no solution to the problem of competition among newspapers.

The round-table was broadcast as a national radio program (America's Town Meeting—ABC)

The question of declining competition was raised by Morris Ernst, counsel for the American Newspaper Guild, who said "in only 117 cities is there any competition in daily news"

He also said that 'America has lost more than 1,000 papers in 20 years"

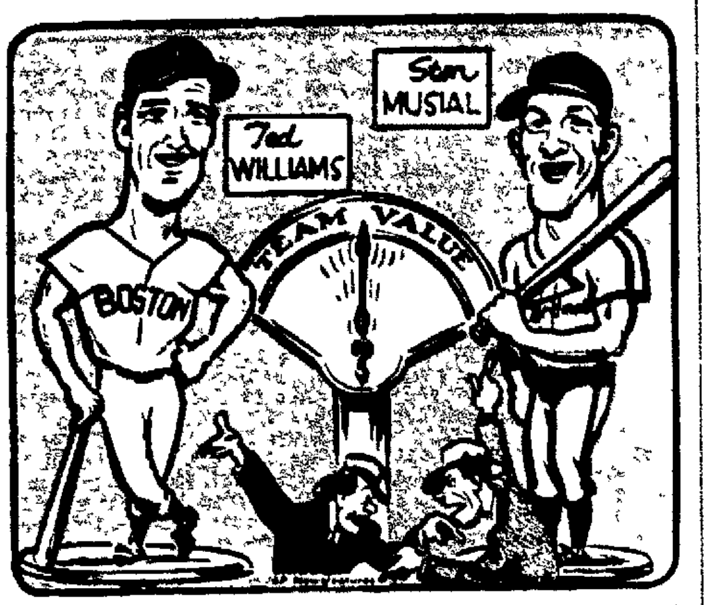
Veteran Baseball Experts Pick Musial Over Williams



ST. LOUIS—Veteran baseball observers, gathered here for the 43rd World Series, were asked to make a choice—if they had one—between Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger, and Stan Musial, the former outfielder, who did a bangup job at first base for the St. Louis Cardinals this year

Nearly all of them voted for Musial and most agreed that the Donora, Pa, portsider is the most underpaid player in the majors today.

Musial drew a reported $14,000 for playing every one of the 154 National league games. He appeared two more in the two-game playoff sweep over Brooklyn for which he drew additional pay

Williams the mauler from San Diego, received a reported $42 500

"That's three times what Musial gets" said one of the players who would rather remain anonymous "I'd take Stan and so would a lot of other guys Musial is a better team man"

Rogers Hornsby, who, 20 years ago managed the Cardinals to their first pennant and World Series victory, beating the Giants and Yankees, respectively, said

'It's just unfortunate for Musial that he's not playing for a better drawing team"

Forecaster Skips Back Onto Army's Football Bandwagon

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 — A week ago this football forecaster had the nerve to pick Michigan as the winner over Army—and both he and the Wolverines regretted it.

This week Army is selected as the winner over Columbia's unbeaten forces but the score won't compare in any way with the 54 to 0 pasting the Cadets handed the war-weakened Lions in 1943, their last meeting

Texas over Arkansas' Clyde (Smackover) Scott is a questionable starter for the Razorbacks because of a hip injury, virtually ruining the hopes of Coach John Barnhill for an upset triumph over the Longhorns. Texas is battered, too, but not enough to lose

Tennessee Over Alabama

Tennessee over Alabama The Vols insist their line is the best ever to wear the Tennessee uniform Harry Gilmer to keep Alabama in striking distance however

Michigan over Northwestern The Wolverines won't find Frank Aschenbrenner as fleet as Glenn Davis and that will be a relief.

UCLA over California' When a pre-war All-America end is only a reserve, the team must be good Therefore, UCLA

Georgia over Oklahoma A & M Trippi is healthy and sound Fenimore is battered and worn Georgia

Illinois over Wisconsin' Granted that the Illinois players may not all be thinking of football they still appear to have enough concentration to subdue the Badgers

Indiana To Beat Iowa

Indiana over Iowa It is the Hoosier homecoming and the old grads will expect to see Ben Raimondi do some real passing

North Carolina over Navy The Tarheels have never scored on Navy in their series of games Tomorrow they will score enough to win

Kentucky over Vanderbilt: Vanderbilt's goal line hasn't been crossed this year, a statement that won't hold true by nightfall Saturday.

Pennsylvania over Virginia: Neither team has been beaten this year but if Minisi and Allen should tire, the Penn coach could use any of his 24 reserve backs. The manpower will tell

Skipping over the remainder of the chalklines in a hurry:

Friday Night

Temple over West Virginia, Virginia Tech over Maryland,

Saturday

East: Penn State over Michigan State, Pittsburgh over Marquette, Boston University over Tufts, Yale over Cornell, Harvard over Coast Guard, Rutgers over Princeton, St. Mary's over Fordham, Holy Cross over Syracuse, Dartmouth over Brown, Villanova over Georgetown (Sunday).

Midwest' Ohio State over Purdue, Minnesota over Wyoming, Kansas over Nebraska, Missouri over Iowa State, Oklahoma over Kansas State, Drake over St. Louis, Cincinnati over Ohio University.

South' Mississippi State over San Francisco, Miami, Fla, over Florida, Louisiana State over Georgia Tech, Tulane over Auburn, Vols over Davidson, Duke over Richmond, George Washington over Wayne, North Carolina State over Wake Forest, William & Mary over Washington & Lee

Southwest Rice over Southern Methodist, Texas A & M over Texas Christian, Texas Tech over Baylor

Far West' Southern California over Washington, Oregon over Washington State, Stanford over Santa Clara, Nevada over San Diego State.

There are places called "Mexico" in at least six states, "Panama" in at least six, "Brazil" in at least four, "Bolivia in one, "Argentine in one and "Cuba" in at least eight

C. OF C. NOW SELLING LAST FORUM TICKETS

First Lecture To Be Held November 3.

The final 100 tickets to the Marion Chamber of Commerce Sunday Afternoon Forum series were placed on sale today, according to an announcement from the Chamber of Commerce office.

To assist Marion county residents, tickets have been placed on sale at the Prospect Monitor office in Prospect and at the Campbell National bank in LaRue. For Marion residents tickets are available at the cigar stand in Hotel Harding. They also may be purchased at the Marion Chamber of commerce office.

First of the forum series will be held Sunday, Nov. 3, with Louis P. Lochner as speaker. Mr. Lochner has just returned from Germany where he witnessed the Nuernberg trials and the conviction of the Nazi war criminals. His topic will be "Germany, Democracy or Soviet State."

Other speakers on the forum include Dr. James S. Owens on Dec. 8, Fulton Lewis Jr. on Jan. 12 and Henry C. Wolfe on Feb. 2.

The forums will be held at the Edison Junior High school auditorium and will begin at 2:30 p. m. Local business men will act as moderators, with Paul Hunt presiding at the meeting Nov. 3.

WHITNEY LODGE MEETS

A report of the international convention held recently at Miami, Fla., was given by Mrs. Iona Clark, who attended as a delegate, when Whitney Lodge No. 846, Ladies' Auxiliary to Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen met Thursday night in the Legion Dugout. The social committee was named for the year as follows: Mrs. Golda Sellars, chairman, Mrs. Leah Bruce, Mrs. Dorothy Wyrick, Mrs. Louisa Yost, Mrs. Beulah Graham and Mrs. Blanche Miller. The lodge decided to have a social hour after each meeting in the future. Plans were made for a Halloween party Oct. 30 at the home of Mrs. Bruce at 789 Henry street. At the next meeting, Nov. 7, election of officers will be conducted.

SAYS HITLER LIVES. Lt. Col. W. F. Heimlich, above, Army intelligence officer who directed the investigation of Adolph Hitler's presumed death, declares in Berlin that he believes Hitler, his mistress Eva Braun and his deputy, Martin Bormann, are alive today. Heimlich, whose home in is Columbus, O., stated that "there is not one iota of proof that Hitler is dead."

PRESIDENT RESERVES WIN AT FINDLAY, 6-2

Jay Vees Hand Foes 2nd Loss in 12 Games.

Chalking up their second win of the season the Prexie Jay Vees last night handed Findlay's reserves its second defeat in over a dozen starts 6 to 2 last night on the vanquished's home field. The game was played during a continual rain fall which made it necessary to cut the quarters to eight minutes.

Bill LeMay scored early in the first quarter of the game on a run of approximately 40 yards. The Findlay score came later in the same quarter when attempting to punt Don Johnson fumbled a bad pass from center and covered it in his own end zone.

Johnson's punting last night was a contributing factor to the Harding junior teams having an advantage over Findlay. His punts averaged between 40 and 45 yards Harding gaining an advantage on every exchange.

The line and secondary defenses also performed with percision holding Findlay to several small gains throughout the contest. The complete backfield also turned in impressive exhibitions.

In the words of Coach Joe Petrich, "The team functioned better last night than in any other game this season and I hope they keep it up."

The junior squad will play a return engagement with Mansfield Tuesday Oct. 22 at the stadium. Mansfield earlier in the season handed the sophs a 40 to 0 trouncing.

The Findlay lineup is not available. Harding starters and substitutions were: M. Ellis LE, Don Ellis LT, Drake LG, Chapman C, Hazen RG, Menzer RT, Andrews RE, Phillians QB, Roest LH, LeMay RH and Isaly FB. Substitutions: Taylor C and Don Johnson back.

Elks Lodges Plan Visitation Program

Arrangements were made to entertain Delaware lodge and also to attend a district meeting in Mt. Vernon at a meeting of Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, Thursday night. The visit of the Delaware lodge next Thursday night is a part of a scheduled visitation program being carried on by the lodges. The meeting will be preceded by a fish dinner at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting at Mt. Vernon will be held on Oct. 27 and will be attended by lodges in the North Central district.

Lumber Dealers Hear CPA, FHA Speakers

Two representatives of the Columbus offices of the CPA and FHA were speakers at the monthly dinner meeting of District 11 of the Retail Lumber Dealers association Thursday night at Hotel Harding.

They were G. H. Guckert of the FHA and R. D. Miller of the CPA. They explained present priority systems, particularly as affecting the veterans housing program.

Twenty-five members of the association from Marion and six surrounding counties attended.

HALLOWEEN PARTY HELD

A meeting of Paramount Council No. 37, Daughters of America, was held Thursday night in the I.O.O.F. hall. Following a short business meeting, a Halloween party was held with prizes in games going to Mrs. Dessie Carpenter, Miss Ruth Schiller, and Mrs. Mildred Pickett. Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Mildred Rayner, chairman. Mrs. Semah Carder was in charge of the entertainment. A meeting of the Past Councilors will be held Monday, Oct. 28, at the home of Mrs. Nell Wilson of 518 North Prospect street, with Mrs. Clara Neal as co-hostess.

CARS IN COLLISION

Cars driven by Robert Baker, 25, of 222 Merchant avenue and H. W. Martin, address not given, collided at Blaine avenue and West Columbia street Thursday at 2 p. m., police reported. No one was injured and property damage was minor.

COLLISION REPORTED

The state highway patrol reported that a car driven by Lester Cumston, 38, of 520 Jefferson avenue collided with one driven by Clyde J. Reid, 44, of Newark on route 23 at Little Sandusky Thursday at 2:30 p. m. Damage was slight. The patrol said the accident happened when the Cumston car came out of a drive as Reid was passing.

KIWANIS CLUB HEARS MUSICAL PROGRAM

Sally Schneider, 9, Entertains with Piano Numbers.

A musical program was presented by Sally Irene Schneider, nine-year-old pianist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Schneider of 407 Forest street, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the club Thursday at Hotel Harding. She was assisted in the program by her teacher, Mrs. Harry T. Williams.

Little Miss Schneider, a member of Pi Mu National Music sorority, won a superior rating at the state competitive festival last year. She is vice president of the Juvenile Lecture-Recital club.

She opened her program with "Sonatine" by Clementi. Other numbers were "From Out of the Past," "Ballade" by Burgmueller, "Chimes of Love" by Heller, and "It's Raining" by Kern. A duet by Miss Schneider and Mrs. Williams, "Military March" by Schubert, closed the program.

A short talk was given by G. F. Lynch of Brooklyn, N. Y., personnel manager of the National USO. He told about USO activities and explained the need for the fund which will be obtained by the community fund drive.

Guests were Mrs. LeRoy Schneider, Gail Newell of Carey, and Truman Landberg of Cincinnati.

Two Men Fined $25 After Knife Fracas

Two men involved in a knife fight in the first alley north of Court street yesterday afternoon about 2:30 were fined $25 and costs today in municipal court when they pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct.

They are Keith E. Cromer, 33, of the Victory Hotel, and Luther L. Harrison, 19, of the Snyder Hotel. Harrison suffered an abdominal wound, which City hospital attendants said was not serious. He was treated there and released. Harrison suffered a cut on the hand.

Harrison and Cromer and his wife, police said, had been involved in an argument in a nearby cafe. When they were ejected from the place, the knife fight began.

Loyal Daughters Class Members Entertained

The Loyal Daughters class of the Prospect Street Methodist church met Thursday evening with Miss Dorothy Rowland of 632 North Prospect street, with Miss Norma Lusch as co-hostess. Miss Ruth Carr conducted devotions, reading the Indian version of the 23rd Psalm. Projects and programs for the year were discussed, and the group decided to make scrap books to be given to a hospital at Christmas.

Names for a Christmas exchange will be drawn at the November meeting. Miss Isabelle Hashman was a guest. The evening was spent socially with high honors in contests going to Miss Ruth Schott and the consolation to Miss Frances Haas. Refreshments were served by the hostesses in keeping with the Halloween theme, assisted by Miss Hashman. Miss Julia Hughes and Miss Joan Schertzer will be hostesses for the November meeting.

Prebyterian Aid Circle Entertained

Mrs. Harry S. Elliott and Mrs. L. H. Flocken were co-hostesses for a meeting of Circle No. 3 of the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, Thursday afternoon in the home of the former at 264 South State street. To open the meeting, Mrs. A. F. Lantzer, leader, read a poem and Mrs. Stella Cunningham conducted the devotions, reading from the Thirteenth Psalm.

The study lesson on the topic, "The Night of Repentance," taken from the study book, "Nights of the Bible," was presented by Mrs. James G. Cooper. During a business session Mrs. H. L. Slyh was appointed to serve as the pastor's aid from the circle, and Mrs. Lantzer gave a report of the general aid meeting.

The November meeting will be in the evening at the home of Mrs. L. F. Meister of East Walnut street.

ERIE RAILROAD GETS HIGHEST NAVY AWARD

For meritorious service to the United States Navy during and immediately after World War II the Erie railroad today received the highest award that the Bureau of Naval Personnel can give an individual or organization not directly affiliated with the Navy. This presentation was made in recognition of the Erie's part in the tremendous railway transportation job involved in moving millions of naval personnel.

The award, the Certificate of Achievement, was presented at a luncheon at the Chicago club in Chicago. Presentation was made by Admiral Louis Denfeld, chief of naval personnel, who will assume command of the Pacific Fleet next January. Acceptance on the part of the railroad was made by P. W. Johnston, vice president.

Among those on the program were: Under Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan; Rear Admiral J. L. Holloway, Jr., assistant chief of naval personnel and recently appointed superintendent of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis; Colonel J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, and John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads. Hugh W. Siddall, chairman of the interterritorial military committee, was toastmaster.

The presentation to the Erie Railroad is part of a program honoring at the same time 39 other railroads with Certificates of Achievement and four passenger association heads with Certificates of Appreciation for similar work.

Pressure from Ohio Thought To Have Influenced Truman

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—Pressure from Ohio may have been a [illegible] in President Truman's decision to remove price controls from [illegible] and meat.

The President acted closely on [illegible] of these developments:

[illegible] request by Governor Lausche for an investigation by the justice department.

[illegible] A conference about the meat [illegible] between Mr. Truman and Senator James W. Huffman (D-[illegible]).

[illegible] leaving the White House after the conference, the senator [illegible] to reporters that he had suggested restoration of a free [illegible] if that was the only way to get meat back in the butcher [illegible].

"I favor decontrol if the facts warrant it," Huffman said. Previously, the President had said he had not made up his mind about what to do.

Ohio Seen as Typical

It is conceivable that he looked [illegible] situation as typical of what was happening elsewhere. [illegible] miners and steel workers [illegible] threatening to quit their jobs unless they got meat. Their leaders said they couldn't get necessary energy from other foods.

Governor Lausche, calling for an inquiry, declared in telegrams to the agriculture and justice departments that there was reason to believe that meat was being kept from stores "artificially."

Calls Order Belated

Like Senator Robert A. Taft, Rep. Edward R. McCowen of Wheelersbury says the President's decontrol order was belated.

McCowen reasoned this way:

"When price controls are ended, there will be confusion for a few months—whether it be now, next year, or some future year. But production will rapidly increase when controls are lifted, and the supply will rapidly come to equal the demand. Then confusion will end."

Food Committee Sarcastic

The Republican congressional food study committee, headed by Rep. Tom Jenkins of Ironton, was bitingly sarcastic. In a statement to congressmen, the committee said "here we go again" and asserted that the President clung to price controls in "a bid for left-wing votes."

"During the next four or five weeks consumers are going to pay high meat prices that are inevitable as the meat industry again goes through a period of readjustment from off-again on-again government controls," the committee said.

"Democratic spokesmen are certain to beat their breasts and scream at the high prices that are the inevitable part of an industry trying to readjust itself to normal operation. They should be reminded sharply that this situation is not the result of decontrol but is the result of decontrol of meat and livestock which was forced on the country by the administration for purely political purposes."

To Have No Effect

The end of meat controls will have no effect on another Republican house committee named by Minority Leader Joe Martin (Mass) to prepare a report on repeal or modification of wartime powers of the administration.

Chairman Earl Lewis of St. Clairsville said the committee would go right ahead with its inquiry with a view to reporting to congress early next year.

Ohio Forestry Big Time

Forestry is a big time business in Ohio. Records here show that Ohio plants which process wood, wood fibre or chemical derivatives of wood, provide employment for 63,000 full time workers and 33,000 part time workers.

The importance of all types of wood-using industries in the economic structure of the state is brought out by a comparison of the annual value of primary forest products (logs, bolts, etc.) cut in the form of wood or derived from wood.

The figures (estimated) are $10,000,000 and $289,000,000, respectively.

GLASS INDUSTRY PAY CONTROVERSY ENDS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18 — Settlement of wage disputes involving more than 32,000 AFL-Flint Glass Workers unionists employed by [illegible] of the country's glassware manufacturers was announced today by Federal Conciliator Harry Gray.

Union officials, who previously threatened to call a nationwide strike in support of demands for [illegible] cent hourly wage increases, accepted wage boosts of 12½ cents an hour for mold makers and a raise of 10 per cent for paste mold makers in the industry.

Unionists affected by the settlement are employed by the National Association of Pressed and Blown Glassware Manufacturers, with 53 member firms, and the Glass Containers' Institute, representing 33 companies. Wage increases will be made retroactive to Sept. 1, Gray said.

Mold makers in the glass container group, which employs about 48,000 workers, receive a current average wage of $1.36 hourly with a $1.15 minimum pay rate, Gray reported. Under the accepted proposal, new average hourly wage for mold makers will be $1.48, with a minimum rate of $1.35 approved, he added.

Paste mold workers, highly skilled employes in the pressed and blown glassware industry, now receive "considerably higher" average hourly rates, said the conciliator, who estimated their average pay at "about $2 an hour."

The pressed and blown glassware association employs more than 40,000 workers in plants throughout the country.

Previous settlement of disputes involving unskilled and semi-skilled unionists in the industry, and acceptance of compromise proposals in the old makers' and paste mold divisions, have completed negotiations in the dispute and averted the threat of a strike by the AFL union, Gray concluded.

Church Group Makes Fund Contribution

Contributions of $10 each were made to the Young People's booth festival to be held here and the religious school education program at a meeting of Circle No. 4 of the W. S. C. S. of Epworth Methodist church, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Donald Phelps of 603 Henry street. Mrs. W. W. Jack presided for the meeting, which opened with a song by the group and devotions by Mrs. Roy Kauble who chose as her theme, "Peace." She read a hymn, "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love," and references from the Bible.

Mrs. Fannie Stevens, mother of the hostess, was a guest. Plans were made for a Halloween party Nov. 1, to be held in the evening at the home of Mrs. Kauble at 239 Clover avenue.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Homer D. Cole, Mrs. J. A. Hiller, Mrs. Hazel Mahaffey and Mrs. C. E. Primmer. A meeting Nov. 21 will be with Mrs. H. H. Gruber [illegible] 457 Olney avenue.

Marion Girl Studies in New York Store

Marjorie Ebert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Ebert, is now in New York City employed by Lord and Taylor department store as a part of practical training in the field of clothing and home furnishings merchandising being carried out by the school of home economics at Ohio State university.

Two other Ohio State girls are also receiving field training at the New York store. Others are working in Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati.

Oakland Heights P.-T.A. Meets at School Building

Oakland Heights P.-T.A. met Tuesday in the school auditorium. "Open house" was held from 7 to 8 p. m. to give the parents an opportunity to visit home rooms. The meeting was opened by singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and the pledge of allegiance led by Jimmie Zeigler. Mrs. Lee Wedertz had charge of devotions.

Mrs. Donald Phelps extended a welcome to the new members and introduced the new principal, Miss Violet McBride, and the teachers.

A contribution was voted to the Civic Planning association. Mrs. D. F. Persinger announced the group will sew for Red Cross the fourth Monday. The Mother's study group will meet the fourth Tuesday of each month beginning in November. The first meeting will be with the chairman, Mrs. Glenn Kellogg of Merkle avenue. William Roberts, Cub master, gave a report on the Cub Scouts, announcing that they had won $10 at the state fair for their exhibit. Howard Zeigler was named recreational chairman. Mrs. Mae Kinney's room won the traveling picture for having the most parents present. Mrs. Phelps gave a report of the convention held in Columbus last month. E. E. Holt spoke on the two mill levy.

During the program a girls' trio composed of Miss Grace Cyders, Miss Patricia Falor, Miss Louise Caldwell, accompanied at the piano by Gene Decker, sang two numbers. Dr. C. E. Hershey, pastor of Emanuel Baptist church, was guest speaker. He said, "With loyalty to one another, trustworthiness and friendship, with these three, we can conquer the problems of home, community and life." Miss Joyce Matson played a piano solo. William Roberts acted as program chairman.

Mrs. Richard Plantz, council president, was a guest.

HOSTESS TO CIRCLE

Mrs. Aaron Goetting was hostess to Circle 6 of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at her home at 161 Kenmore avenue. Mrs. H. S. Fair served as assistant hostess. Devotions by Mrs. Minnie Philips were followed by a report of a recent general aid meeting by Mrs. E. W. Warwick. Mrs. L. E. Cookston read three articles, "The Arabs and Jesus in Prophecy," "The Trans-Jordan Deal," and "In Palestine." The guessing box went to Mrs. Cookston and Miss Helen Virtue was a guest.

Army Marks 435,000 Men for Discharge

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18—The army, suffering from a case of payroll jitters, marked down 435,000 officers and men today for discharge by year's end.

But whether there still may be a return to draft calls after the current two month induction holiday expires Dec. 31 remained unclear.

Here are the figures:

The army had a total strength of 1,745,000 Sept. 30.

Congress says it may not have more than 1,070,000 by next June 30.

So, to reach that figure gradually, the present number will be cut to 1,310,000 by Dec. 31.

MARKET RESUMES DOWNWARD DRIFT

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Stocks generally resumed the downward drift in today's market.

Caution, brokers said, again was predicated partly on the erratic movement of commodities and livestock prices.

Prominent on the offside were Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, International Harvester, American Telephone, Kennecott, Air Reduction, Westinghouse Electric, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Texas Co., Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Bonds emulated stocks.

Among curb stumblers were Crosley Motors, N. J. Zinc, Southern Phosphate and U. S. Foil "B." Plus marks were acquired by Aluminum of America and Hummel-Ross.

The story of Marty Snider, a 16-year-old boy who falls into bad company and eventually runs afoul the law, is taken from the files of Lewis E. Lawes, former warden of Sing Sing prison, to be presented in dramatized form on the initial broadcast of "The Warden's Crime Cases," Sunday at 1 p. m. over Mutual. Lawes will be present in person to comment on the case of the youthful Marty, which the warden considers to be a typical instance of the manner in which a bad environment can start an otherwise normal boy on a criminal career.

MIDWESTERN CITIES CALLED VULNERABLE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17—Col. A. W. Oughterson, chairman of the joint commission investigating effects of the atomic bombs on the Japanese population, believes "the atomic bomb is ideal for the destruction of our cities of the Middle West."

Addressing more than 1,000 physicians at a session of the Interstate Postgraduate Medical association last night, Colonel Oughterson said:

"Some stories have led citizens to believe that the atom bomb is just another bomb. It is my duty to present to you a factual picture of information I obtained as chairman of the investigating commission representing the Army, Navy, Manhattan Project and Japanese government. We had to take the Japanese government in to find out what we wanted to know.

"The atomic bomb is ideal for the destruction of our cities of the Middle West, and members of the medical profession must make a medical plan for the future, for the civil populations must most certainly be targets. Plans from the point of view of mobility outside the cities must be made so that the devastated area may be served. It is either that or going underground."

Urban areas, as defined by the Census Bureau, include all cities and other incorporated places having at least 2,500 inhabitants.

PROTESTANT PRIVATE SCHOOLS SUGGESTED

By The Associated Press

ALLIANCE, O., Oct. 18—The "only conceivable alternative" to a failure to include religion in public education would be for Protestants to withdraw their children from public schools, says Dr. Charles C. Morrison of Chicago, editor of the Christian Century.

Speaking at an assembly during the centennial observance of Mount Union college, Dr. Morrison asked why schools should not teach religion, inasmuch as they teach civics and politics.

A solution to the problem of the differences in sects could be worked out through systematic cooperation by Catholics, Jews and Protestants, he said.

"If the inclusion of religion in the curriculum of public educatiin cannot be worked out I see for Protestantism only one conceivable alternative," said the speaker. "I see nothing to do but for Protestant churches to establish their own schools, somewhat on the model of the Roman Catholic parochial schools, and to withdraw their children from the public schools."

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I SHOT an uneasy glance at my father as Helena made her outcry I know how implacable he is to offenders who disobey him, and, I wondered if he would have her taken out of the car and sent down to the hideaway dungeon, as he had threatened, if she spoke again

But he sensed the genuine panic in her voice and meant to be lenient, I knew

"She's really frightened not rebellious,' he murmured "Quiet her if you can, perhaps through Carolyn"

I nodded, and put my lips close to Carolyn's ear

'My father will overlook that outcry,' I said 'But—she must not cry out again. Do not use my name, but say to her that my father told you there was nothing to fear in that noise It was simply a signal for the cars to go ahead Impress upon her, however, that she must not speak again Nod your head if you can do that '

Carolyn nodded and, without further words, I went back to my father, and reported to him, prison-fashion

Carolyn has agreed to explain, and to keep her mother quiet, I said and my father nodded as the big doors of the Chinese food factory opened, and the cars rolled through into the deserted street.

'There will be a police cordon for three blocks on every side for ten minutes Our two cars are separating at the next corner, and meeting again two blocks beyond the cordon Then, I trust, it will be clear sailing from the rest of the journey," my father whispered

His trust was not misplaced Our journey was most uneventful and, when we rolled up to the side veranda of the farm house, even Helena and Carolyn had ceased to sulk

'It will be good to see Marion,' Carolyn said "She's out here, isn't she?'

She did not address me directly, left the query suspended in air, but my father signaled me to answer it

"Yes, she's here with her mother and stepfather," I answered.

With a Side Glance

"Am I permitted to open my mouth now?" Helena asked with a side glance at my father

"It depends upon what you say," he told her without smiling "Any ordinary conversation is permitted, but you must do nothing to upset Sam

'Incidentally," he went on, " you will not be permitted to see Sam again tonight, except for a minute or two I would advise you to make no fuss about it But here come Lillian and Marion They will take care of you and your daughter Harry will help us with Sam '

We had stopped thirty miles from the farmhouse, and my father, I was sure, had telephoned Harry and Lillian from a booth and told them just what he wanted done

Lillian and Marion came to the door of our car as soon as we arrived, and took Helena and Carolyn into their embrace, and then escorted them inside

Harry went directly to the door of the other car, and my father spoke to Gus and Joe

"Have the officer stay with the driver of the other car," he said 'I want you, Joe, and the police officer of the other car to help Mr Underwood carry that stretcher '

Then he changed his directions "Tell the driver of that other car to help with the carrying,' he said, 'and have the other police officer report to me. I have a special job for him "
